NEARY, ON STAND, ADmits HE KILLED POLICEMAN EARLY

Declares He Did Not Mean to Shoot Patrolman, but Was Firing at Saloon Owner.

MAKES ADMISSION IN CORONER'S OFFICE

Says He Had Grudge Against Bar Proprietor—Held for Homicide by Inquest Jury.

John Neary admitted on the witness stand in the Coroner's office yesterday that he fired the shot which killed Patrolman Bernard Duffy in a saloon at Easton and Maine avenues last Saturday night.

Neary declared he did not mean to wound "Smiling Barney" Early, as he knew—he indeed, he said he did not see the policeman—but that he was firing at Michael Woods, proprietor of the saloon, because of a grudge against Woods.

The Coroner's jury held Neary guilty of second-degree murder.
A warrant charging second-degree murder had been issued against him previously.
The police officials believe that Neary did in fact fire purposely at Duffy. It was pointed out, that it was Neary who was first to fire.
It was the opinion of the matter, he is guilty of first-degree murder.
For Admission of Shooting.

In his talk with city detectives last night, when he made his first admission of the shooting, Neary showed a desire to avoid being charged with the intentional killing of the policeman. The recent execution of Merrell and Pinkley, sons of two policemen, has created the impression that such a crime would be deemed haling.
Neary's signed confession was read late last night by Acting Chief of Detectives Smyth, affective Detective Thomas Moran, by the talk with the prisoner, had promised him to go beyond his previous partial admissions. The confession ends with Neary's statement that no abuse, threats or bad language have been used toward him, and no promises made to him.
Moran arrested Neary the night of June 20, as Neary was apparently trying to break into the rear of a Kroger grocery store on Prairie avenue, near Neary's home.
He was with Lieutenant William Murphy, the homicide bureau when Murphy arrested Neary Saturday night, within an hour after the famous shooting of Patrolman Early.
Neary had since visited him several times and furnished him with cigarettes and extra food.

Makes New Statement.
Last evening, Neary repeated to detectives his story previously told, that he had been "with" the man who entered the Woods saloon early, but that he remained on the street and took no part in the scene. "What do you think of that for an out?" he asked. By that, Moran understood him to mean a defense.

"I don't think much of it," Neary replied. "If you went along with the other fellow, you can be charged with murder, anyway." Moran then said to Neary, "I understand you and Woods had had a quarrel before last night, and that got you out of the saloon."

"That wouldn't account for the policeman, would it?" the prisoner said. "The detective, 'It wouldn't. How do you account for the policeman?'"

"I didn't see the policeman," Neary replied. After this slip, it was each, he thought a few minutes, and said he was ready to make a new statement. His statement to Smyth, as signed by Neary, is:

"Two or three weeks ago Mike Woods put me out of his saloon—what, I don't know. I have been there six or seven times since, but Woods was not there, his girlfriend being on duty.

I was arrested Friday afternoon,
at Vandeventer and Evans,
after having a fight with my girl.
During this fight, the girl scratched my left temple, so badly it bled freely. I was released at 11:30 p.m. Friday, and I got into a Brown's taxicab at Taylor and Maine, and went to Woods' and had a drink. Mike Woods and the driver out of the car, because of the fight with his girlfriend. He called me his name as he had me out. I said nothing to him, but told the driver, 'Let's go.'

We went to Gallagher's saloon; Mike and St. Ferdinand, got a drink and sat there 20 minutes with the driver; then discharged taxi and stayed there an hour.

LIBERATED FROM CARING FOR FOXES, BUT FACES A FINE Grocer's Present of Two Wild Animals From Friend Bundled Off to the Zoo.

A friend of Angelo J. Rosegrant, grocer, at 6202 Easton avenue, caught two little red foxes in a tree stump, last May, in St. Charles County. He thought they would make a nice present for Rosegrant, so he gave them to him, and Rose-grant liked them pretty well himself for a few days.

He put up a cage for them, fed them and tended them. He began to have hopes for them. But Rose-grant is a busy man and the foxes became a bother. But he had said he'd take care of them. So all he could do was to keep on taking care of them.

Then yesterday the grocer suddenly found himself liberated from all red fox worries. For Deputy Game Commissioner Wlemeyer, having got information about them, called on Rosegrant and charged him with possessing wild game without a permit and fur-bearing animals during closed season. He bundled the foxes to the Forest Park Zoo and bundled Rosegrant to Clayton, where the grocer later was released on $200 bond.

"It'll cost me some money to get out of this now," Rosegrant said today. "And I didn't want them anyhow."

RIBBON-WINNING HORSE RIDDEN BY 13 GENERALS

Snooks, 12 Years Old, Is Mount of Sixth Cavalry and Has Carried Pershing.

By the Associated Press.
CAMP MCLELLAN, Ala., July 30.—Gen. Hugh A. Drum, Deputy Chief of Staff of the War Department of Washington, D. C., watch-thirteenth General in the United States Army to ride "Snooks," noted Sixth Cavalry horse, while on a tour of inspection of Camp McLellan.
Its owner, Capt. Van Dyke Ochs, says that he is not superstitious and has no fear of the thirteenth celebrity bringing misfortune to him. Snooks at one time was honored by proudly bearing Gen. John J. Pershing in review.

Snooks is 12 years old and has claimed a place in America's Who's Who for other achievements than that of bearing 13 Generals.
In his whole life history Snooks has never entered a horse show without bringing out a tangible distinction of some kind. He has won a total of 49 ribbons and 12 cups.

The following Generals have had the honor of riding Snooks: Pershing, Scott, Shanks, Holbrook, Harris, Erwin, Parker, King, Wells, Winslow and Drum.

'AFFIRMATIVE G.O.P. CAMPAIGN'

Butler Says Deriding and Deploring Will Be Left to Others.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, July 30.—Chairman of the Republican National Committee issued a statement today saying:

"We are going to leave the decrying, deriding and deplored to other people. The character of our candidates, the strength of our platform and our record of postwar achievement through the difficult years of this Republican administration enable us to depend on an affirmative campaign. I believe the nation is more interested in accomplishment than in promises."

"One striking factor in the situation has become more and more apparent. Our purpose has been to make the campaign to a considerable degree an exposition of the character and record of President Coolidge. On arriving in Chicago
I stated that the East had asked with one voice for Gen. Dawes as a speaker. It is not hard to imagine how the West feels."

GUN ELEVATION BREAKS PACT, SAYS BRITAIN

Notifies U. S. and Japan It Views Modernization as Violation of Washington Treaty.

LONG CONTROVERSY BROUGHT TO HEAD

American Naval Chiefs
Have Held That Program

Conference Agreement.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, July 30.—The British Government has made representations to the Governments of the United States and Japan, that the alterations of the elevations of guns on capital war vessels, or expenditures for the purpose of increasing the radius of action of these guns, would be, in the opinion of the British Government a breach of the Washington convention.

This declaration was made in the House of Commons today by Arthur Forsyth, Under Secretary for Foreign Affairs, in answer to a questioner who asked whether any representations on this point had been made to any of the signatories of the Washington convention.

State Department Will Await Hughes' Return.

WASHINGTON, July 30.—Great Britain's representations against the ship modernization program of the American Navy may bring to a head a controversy that has stirred naval circles here almost continuously since the adjournment of the arms conference.

State Department officials declined today to comment on the London announcement of the British, nor to indicate whether any action would be taken by the whole subject would be necessary before the United States made its reply to London.

In some quarters it was regarded as unlikely that any decision would be made before the return from Europe of Secretary Hughes, and a conference between him and President Coolidge. Hughes personally conducted the work of the American delegation at the Washington conference, upon whose findings the British representations are based.

A ship modernization program, including a change in elevation of the main batteries of first warships was recommended to Congress by President Harding in December, 1922. In an accompanying memorandum, Secretary Dense declared the work proposed was "major and vital importance."
The patroliam replied, pocketed the bills and departed. From Kiesling's back room appeared Capt. Patrick Kirk.
Kirk of Soulard District and Inspector of Police Vasey, who hurried out the door, close on Moorkamp's heels. The patrolman had the bills in his hand when he was overtaken across the street.

Hands Over Bills.

"Here it is," he said, and handed the bills to Capt. Kirk. They were marked and Capt. Kirk had a memorandum of the numbers in his pocket. Moorkamp was promptly suspended, charged with extorting a bribe.

Kiesling had complained that Moorkamp was "shaking him down" for money for protection.
On July 3 he asserted Moorkamp had asked, "How much is it worth to keep in business?" and collected $10. Last Monday when he asked for more, according to Kiesling, the trap was arranged.

Patrolman Moorkamp declared that Kiesling owed him $50 and was paying it in installments.

Warrant Is Refused.

Capt. Kirk sought a warrant today, but it was refused by Assistant Circuit Attorney Fish, because Kiesling's evidence did not indicate the money represented a bribe. The saloonkeeper declared to Fish that he did not pay the money for protection, but to "keep the policeman out of the saloon." He denied he had violated liquor laws.

Meanwhile Moorkamp is at Elv-erly and charges are being prepared for a hearing before the Police Board. He is 47 years old and lives at 3322 Pennsylvania avenue.
He joined the force in 1907.

The public is very generally under the impression," said Capt.
Schofeld's statement, "that the British Admiralty has stated officially that, by their interpretation of the treaty, it would be illegal for us to change the elevations as proposed. No such contention has ever been put forward by the British Admiralty, the British Government or any official of any Government signatory to the treaty."

The general intent of the treaty was to grant each Power the full right to keep step with material and scientific progress, subject only to specific limitations. Nowhere is there to be found a "spirit" of the treaty.

INSANITY TESTIMONY IS NOT PERMITTED

Judge Would Inquire Into Mental Circumstances of Youths' Acts, He Says,
as Fight Continues.

By PAUL Y. ANDERSON,
Al Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, July 30.—The State rested today in the trial of Nathan Leopold Jr. and Richard Loeb for the murder of Robert Frank, and the defense, promptly calling to the stand a noted Eastern alienist, precipitated a furious argument, with the State demanding the exclusion of all evidence bearing upon its propriety.

The argument consumed the morning session and was continued after the noon recess.

Early in the argument, Judge Caverly ruled against the State, but permitted the lawyers to continue with their insisted upon hearing. Nevertheless, he made it rather plain that he would hear the alienists upon the youths' mental condition. If he became convinced that a real doubt as to their sanity existed, he declared, he would order the plea of guilty withdrawn and a plea of not guilty entered, and would impanel a jury to hear the case all over again.

In the argument the defense experts are expected to give it, there appeared to be serious possibility that a this should be considered as a circumstance mitigating the enorm-

Grieved Fathers Shudder at Franks Hearing; Amused Slayers at Times Even Smiled

PARENT OF SLAIN BOY BREAKS AND STUMBLERS OUT

Jacob Franks' Limbs Tremble and Face Twitches With Grief as Confessions Are Read.

LEOPOLD'S FATHER BOWED IN PAIN

Youths, Showing No Shadow of Remorse, Laugh at Prosecutor's Slip in Grammar.

By PAUL Y. ANDERSON,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, July 30.—Two elderly men sat in Judge Caverly's courtroom yesterday afternoon at the hearing in the case of Richard Loeb and Nathan Leopold Jr. for the murder of Robert Franks. Listening to the reading of the youths' slayers' confessions.

And as the stenographers droned out the barbarous details of the murder the faces of the two elderly men were contorted with agony. One was the father of Nathan Leopold. The other was the father of the boy whom Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb murdered.

Jacob Franks' marvelous restraint finally broke down. When the phrases "Richard hit him over the head several times with the chisel," and "when Nathan was still moist from the hydrochloric acid over his face he was dead because he didn't quiver" were given, Jacob Franks' face twitched, his limbs trembled, and he arose and stumbled out of the courtroom.

"I couldn't stand it," he said brokenly. "It was the first time I had heard just what my boy—and he failed to finish.

Hardly less marked was the effect upon the elder Leopold. The little manufacturer sat with an expression of pain and horror upon his face. He shuddered at the narrative, and finally bowed his head almost to his knees.

Still the Critical Students. No such emotions were registered upon the faces of the murderers. Somewhat sober than usual, perhaps, but displaying very little anxiety, and not a shadow of remorse, occasionally they whispered to each other and laughed.

One of these occasions was when Leopold called Loeb's attention to a grammatical error in one of Crowe's questions. The Prosecutor used the word "tell" where he should have said "fallen." That amused them. As a matter of fact, the transcript disclosed that Leopold had drawn for the State's Attorney the distinction between grammar and rhetoric, in the course of his questioning.

No shadow crossed the countenances of the youths as the more blood-curdling passages of the confessions were read. At one time, however, they seemed considerably more interested in the work of a newspaper artist who was sketching them across the table. They leaned over to criticize the work.

State Once Planned to Show That Loeb at One Time Was in Tears.

When court adjourned yesterday the State's Attorney had announced that he had but one more witness who would take but five minutes. This witness was to have been an Assistant State's Attorney who was to have testified that Loeb was crying a short time before he confessed. The evidence intended to show that at least one of the youths upon occasion was not the emotionless being that each defendant has appeared to be throughout the trial; would not be offered, it was decided, because the State's Attorneys feared it might give the defense an opportunity thereby to in-introduce testimony regarding the defendants' mental responsibility.

Judge's Reported Attitude.

Defense attorneys who claim that original publication of certain expert findings in the case by doctors were unauthorized, asked Judge Caverly if reporters could be summoned to explain where they got the reports.

" Didn't See Any Policeman."

"I told —— that I was going over to Mike Woods' place to settle a little argument. He said he would walk over with me. When we got there, I told him to wait outside, and I started in."

"As I entered the swinging door, I saw Mike Woods reach for a gun, and I said to him, 'Get them up.' He got behind the bar, and I started shooting. I fired about four shots. I didn't see any policeman when I was shooting. Woods was behind the bar at the far end."

"After firing the shots, I turned and ran out, but I didn't see after that. I ran across Easton and over Vandeventer to Lucky street and threw my gun away. I went to the Dago's saloon, at Prairie and North Market, and had a drink, then I went home. A half-hour later, seeing police cars coming up, I went through an alley and came out on North Market, where I was arrested."

In answer to questions, Neary said he had drunk "considerable home brew," but not whisky, at the saloon he visited. The police say home brew, with the addition of ether, has a "kick" like whisky.

He said he did not talk with his companion of any plan to hold up anybody. He said he heard Patrolman Early firing at him, and heard one bullet break a window, but did not turn to see who was shooting.

Neary, in repeating his statement in briefer form at the inquest, insisted that he had not intended to shoot Early, and that he had not seen the policeman.

"I went to McCarthy's saloon, Vandeventer and Cottage, and had a couple of drinks. From there, I took a suit of clothes to a pawnshop at Easton and Vandeventer, and while there, went over to Mike Wood's saloon, but Mike wasn't there—a man named Coppering was tending bar. I went back and got my suit, took it home and changed my clothes, and went to Gallagher's again, staying there till 6.

"At Gallagher's I met a young fellow I knew. (This is the man whom Neary previously accused of having done the shooting.) I went back to my house and got a gun, and went to the Linnar Hotel, registering as John Murray.

Tells of Visiting Saloons.

"I got up at 8 a. m. Saturday, and stopped at a saloon at Vandeventer and Windsor place, for a half hour; then went up Flinney avenue to McElroy's saloon, and stayed an hour. Then I went to John Hurley's saloon at Sarah street and St. Louis avenue, and got into Hurley's machine with him, and he went down to the courts, and then to the city jail, taking two hours altogether. Hurley drove me back to my home, 2801 Prairie avenue; we got there at 1:30 p. m."

Long Argument Over Hearing Alienists

interest, even Leopold, the law student, turning away. They talked and smiled. Passing Dr. White on their way back to the jail for lunch, Loeb remarked: "You started something, Doctor," and Leopold added: "Yes, Doctor, you almost testified."

Burstle and Confusion Add to Sense of Conflict.

A sense of impending conflict pervaded the courtroom this morning. Something of the animated talk, the bustle of ushers, the moving of chairs and the general confusion of preparation that attends the opening of a prize fight, were present. To heighten the Illinois policemen and firemen stood around against the walls, and against the pillars, happy in the consciousness that while doing their duty they would see a good show.

Every morning, it seems, still more chairs are produced, and squeezed into some newly discovered corner, although to the naked eye not an available empty space large enough to stand a walking stick in remains. Today, as a matter of fact, a girl reporter is sitting on a small goods box, inserted in a corner that was too small to contain a chair.

The legal storm broke immediately after Dr. William A. White, psychiatrist, who is head of St. Elizabeth's Hospital, at Washington D. C., and president of the American Psychiatric Association, had taken the stand as the first witness for the defense. State's Attorney Crowe objected.

"The only purpose of this testimony," he declared, "is to show insanity on the part of these defendants, and if that is done here we demand that your honor impanel a jury to decide whether they are sane or not."

"Objection overruled. Go ahead," said the Judge promptly.

Breaking of the Storm.

"We want to be heard on this," Crowe persisted. "From the moment that your Honor begins to hear evidence of insanity here, the proceedings are completely null and void. If this Court hears a line of testimony here on the subject of these defendants' sanity, its judgment won't be worth the paper it is written on."

"How can this Court determine whether these young men are competent to plead guilty until it hears evidence on their mental condition?" Judge Caverly countered.

"I, after hearing the evidence, am convinced that there is a real question of the sanity of these defendants. We can order the plea of guilty withdrawn and impanel a jury to hear it. As I understand it, there is no intention to offer an insanity defense here. The condition of mind of a rational person who commits a crime is always a circumstance to be considered in mitigation—or aggravation, for that matter—of the offense."

"I have a right to consider the condition of their minds if they are not mentally diseased. If the Court arrives at a belief that they are mentally diseased, the Court might and probably would order the plea of guilty withdrawn and a plea of not guilty ordered. A jury would be impaneled to hear the question of insanity."

"This court is not going to hold an insanity hearing here. The presumption here is that these men are sane. Under that presumption the court can very properly hear testimony on their mental condition at the time they committed the crime. Of course, if at the time in the testimony it should become apparent to the court that they probably are mentally diseased, then the court has another circumstance to be considered in mitigation and that by refusing it is overruled," said Judge Caverly.

"But, your honor," said the State's Attorney, "if the Court sentences these men to a term in prison, satisfactory to them and their attorneys, the State is helpless. It cannot appeal. I would like to read the Illinois law on the subject of the lack of that feature."

Not of Legal Insanity.

Judge Caverly at this point asserted the defense would not be permitted to present evidence of legal insanity and the argument continued on the question of presentation of testimony in mitigation of murder.

Thomas Marshall, indictment attorney for the State's Attorney, took up the argument, maintaining that the defense was trying to give to the court an impression of insanity and moral insanity.

"This is a temple of justice," he said. "A psychopathic asylum is something else. Confusion only arises when the two are brought together."

Bachrach cited authorities to prove the defense contention that the Court might exercise discretion within a range embraced by all the circumstances of the defendants, previous good character and mental condition. He referred the Court to the Tracy case in Nebraska, which he said bore out this contention.

"We do not intend to offer here any evidence indicating that these boys, on May 21, 1924, were anything but legally sane. But we do intend to show that there is in them a mental deficiency amounting to a disease, which is in itself a mitigating circumstance."

"We have the right to show the psycho-pathological condition of these defendants, just as we have the right to show that a crime was committed while the defendant was under influence of a drug."

Stenographers in Despair.

The argument reached the stage where it was a squabble with five or six attorneys and the Court all talking at once and the official stenographers in despair.

Leopold and Loeb leaned forward slightly in their chairs and took in every word. Finally the Court repeated that it was not going to admit any testimony that defendant was incompetent to plead guilty through their counsel or on their own volition.

"There are different degrees of insanity."

"Not in law," interrupted Crowe.

"Oh, yes, there are," rejoined Judge Caverly. "The laws of Illinois recognize degrees of murder and so must consider degrees of responsibility."

"Attorney Bachrach of the defense said that what the defense wanted to show was not insanity, but a diseased mental functional condition, functional—not organic."

Crowe declined to recognize the distinction.

At one point the Judge invited the Prosecutor to consider what might happen if the testimony were ruled out without being heard.

"The law provides plainly in pleas of guilty that the Court shall listen to all evidence either in aggravation or mitigation of the crime," he pointed out. "What do you suppose the Supreme Court would say if I declined to hear this testimony without knowing what it was to be? They would say, for a certainty, that I had arbitrarily denied the defense an opportunity to present its evidence in mitigation, and they would reverse this case in a minute."

Long Chancery in Expectation of Dramatic Events.

The courtroom filled rapidly this morning for the seventh session of the hearing of Nathan Leopold Jr. and Richard Loeb, kidnaper-slayers of Robert Franks, in expectation of dramatic events in connection with the State's resting and the opening of the defense.

Count Moves Out.
The count moved from Peggy's apartment at 84 East Second street at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon and explained that he took this action after deciding to bring the suit. He said that during their six weeks' marriage and since their marriage had been very much in love with him, but she failed to return his affection. However, he went well until Monday night, according to the Count's story.
Peggy went out without saying anything and failed to return.
"I looked for her all last night
all this morning," he said.
Then I decided to bring suit for divorce. "I know she was never true to me, and I plan to men-the man in this action. I want make everything as easy as possible," he said.

Poor But Has a Future.
He said she refused to live according to his standards and would not go to Chicago, where he has a toothpaste manufacturing business.
"I told her it was not a crime to be poor," he said. "I explained that I might be poor but I had a future. I have property in Sweden worth $250,000 and I gave the income to my relatives."

Peggy's apartment was closed last night. She could not be reached.
Peggy Joyce, who when she was a small-town girl in Virginia was Marguerite Upton, and was later
Mrs. Everett Archer, Mrs. Shelia Hopkins, Jr., Mrs. Philip Hopkins and Mrs. James Stanley joined her title June 2 last when she and Count Morner were married at Atlantic City. They had each other six weeks.

Count Suits Repudiated.
The Count was reported to have gone to her lawyers and drawn up a counter suit for separation immediately after she was served with papers in the suit of her husband. She also is said to have asked for the recovery of $18,000 she alleged she had spent on the Count in her brief married life.

"There was no honeymoon for us," the Count said. "There was no love for me. Our happiness was washed on the day we were married. She loved me up to the minutes we were wed, and then I never had her love again."

She Wanted a Title.
"She wanted a title and when she lost interest in me."

Count Morner attributed the trouble to "her unbelieveable selfishness."

"I had left my business in Chicago to come east to marry Miss Joyce," he said, "and it was my understanding that she would return to Chicago with me, give up the stage and settle down and be a good wife."

"But when on the day of our marriage, I spoke of our returning to Chicago she said she would not go back to her old home and did not want to be seen with me."

SIEGE OF KLAN RAISED AFTER ALL NIGHT CLASH

Arrival of More Policemen Releases Members of Order From Lancaster, Mass., Field.

By the Associated Press.
LANCASTER, Mass., July 30.—After a night of disorders and clashes in which scores were injured between 500 and 800 men, members and spectators at Ku Klux Klan meeting in field near here, were dispersed with the arrival of additional State policemen today. The klanmen were dispersed in the field all night.

The list of injured included five men whose injuries required treatment at hospitals. One was poisonously struck on the head by a stone. Three received wounds believed to have been caused by a shotgun loaded with rock salt. Others were hurt by clubs and by stones and other missiles. Two automobiles were damaged by showers of missiles.

Paul Kitteridge of Clinton, said, said he was a halfback on the Holy Cross football team, is suffering from 40 wounds, believed to have been caused by rock salt discharged from a gun. He is expected to recover.

The disorder, which occurred when 300 klanmen, friends and spectators, assembled in a field near here which they had rented, followed bitter feeling which has existed for some time.

While the fighting was beginning here a similar outbreak occurred in Spencer, several miles away, when a crowd threw stones at a Ku Klux Klan meeting there. State police dispersed the crowd and arrested five men. At Westminister, near here, a third klan meeting was held without disturbance.

Two clashed this place here during the night between a crowd within the field and those outside. The police, handicapped by their lack of numbers, the scattered position of the combatants and the darkness, were able only to keep the road clear.

Flight Raised at Dawn.

At dawn, 150 men still were in the field outside the field and a similar number were within the field. With the coming of morning, the crowd in the roadway gradually broke up. Police reinforcements dispersed the remainder, and those who had been forced to remain within the inclosed field were enabled to leave.

The first clash occurred at 10 o'clock last night at the entrance to the field. Rocks were thrown and the crowd outside withdrew. The second serious clash was about 12:30 this morning, when a second clash for the opening into the field brought general fighting, in which stones and clubs figured. A shotgun was fired into the crowd.

Officer Peter Sonia, who was riding on the running board of an ambulance which had been summoned, and which was carrying an injured man from the field, was struck on the head by a piece of rock.

A man, who said he was a klanman, told newspaper men that only a small number of the crowd within the field were klanmen.

The rest, he said, were listeners at a meeting called for the purpose of telling of the aims of the klan. State police said no action would be taken to discover the person firing the shotgun, or to prosecute,

Professors to Make Speed-of-Light Test
Of Einstein Theory

By This They Hope to Determine Whether Ether Revolves With Earth.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, July 30.—University of Chicago scientists are planning to throw two beams of light, traveling in opposite directions, around the right angles of a set of water mains in an effort to test one phase of the Einstein theory.

The experiments will be conducted by Profs. Wilbert A. Michelson and Henry G. Gale, it was announced today, as soon as Fred Hale, 19, Cairo negroes, charged with the murder of Miss Daisy Wilson, Villa Ridge storekeeper's daughter, when they were arraigned before Judge D. T. Hartwell in the Pulaski County Circuit Court this morning. The Court explained that the pleas carried sentences of from 14 years imprisonment to execution and then named Attorney Carl Miller and W. A. Wall to confer with the prisoners and give them time to change their pleas if they wished.

Sheriff Hudson and deputies brought their prisoners from Murphysboro and Calvo today. One hundred special deputies were on duty at the this morning and secured every one who entered for arms. Gov. Small had refused to send troops as a precaution. The corridors were kept clear and on convening the court Judge Hartwell pointedly told the vast crowd that arrests would follow any disturbance.

After making his announcement the sheriff was taken out to the courtroom by the Sheriff and who are expected to change their pleas are not expected to change their pleas.

It is understood bench warrants will be served today on five leaders of the mob which last week tried to take two other suspects in the case from the Sheriff and who are reported to have been indicted by the grand jury which is still in session. The two negroes were indicted for murder and robbery yesterday.

Miss Wilson, 18, was killed when she went to the aid of her father when his store was being held up by the two negroes a week ago Saturday night. Conners confessed Saturday he fired the shot when he was running from the store and Hale confessed fleeing from the store with 24 cents taken in the robbery.

DEBS DEFENDS HIS INDORSEMENT OF LA FOLLETTE

Writes to William Z. Foster That He Has "No Vatican in Moscow" to Guide Him.

ATTITUDE OF A. F. L. ON TICKET UNCERTAIN

Gompers Accused by Radicals of Being Reactionary—Rail Unions Back of La Follette.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, July 20.—Eugene V. Debs, in a letter made public last night, replied to the attack by William Z. Foster, workers' party nominee for the presidency on Debs' intention to support the candidacy of Robert M. La Follette.

Debs states that he is "unable to understand why you (Foster) should conclude that it (Debs' endorsement of the Cleveland progressive convention) will come as a shock to thousands of workers."

"I can readily understand," the letter continues, "why it would have suited you far better had the Socialist party ended its career at Cleveland and disappeared from the scene or remained disengaged to cut as sorry and discreditting a figure as the communist party will in the campaign this year."

Debs declares that the communists were prepared to endorse La Follette at St. Paul and would have done so "had not La Follette publicly denounced them."

In conclusion the letter says: "You may be right in your criticism... and I may be wrong as I have often been before. Having a Vatican in Moscow to guide me I must follow the light I have and this I have done in the present instance."

La Follette Men

Confident A. F. of L. Will Support Him

By CHARLES G. ROSS, Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, July 20.—Whether or not the La Follette-Wheeler ticket is to receive the official endorsement of the American Federation of Labor will be determined at a meeting of the Executive Council of the Federation, to be held at Atlantic City, beginning Friday. Samuel Gompers, president of the Federation, who has been ill at a hotel on Coney Island since he became ill while attending the Democratic convention, is expected to be able to go to Atlantic City for the meeting.

According to a statement given out at Federation headquarters here, consideration of the rival candidates for the presidency will be based on "an analysis of the various platforms and records and pronouncements of the candidates."

La Follette Men Confident.

The action of the council will be watched with keen interest by the managers of all the candidates. To most observers it appears likely that La Follette and Wheeler will be endorsed. The La Follette people themselves profess the utmost confidence that this will be the result of the meeting.

"There would seem to be little doubt," says the current issue of Labor, the organ of the railroad brotherhoods, "that the Federation will recommend the election of the Progressive candidate and give them undivided support in the campaign."

There is just enough uncertainty in the situation, however, to cause the La Follette supporters a shade of anxiety. They will breathe a trifle easier after the expected endorsement has been accomplished. Failure of the council to recommend the La Follette ticket would give independent movement a severe setback.

Confident in Union Ranks.

For those who are not conversant with the cross-currents of organized labor, it needs to be pointed out, perhaps, that the leadership of the American Federation of Labor is far from radical; certainly it is not radical in the British or Continental European sense. On the theory that labor can best serve its purposes by "nonpartisan action," that is, by picking candidates for its support, regardless of their party labels, Gompers has steadily resisted the formation of a separate labor party on the British model.

Radical labor elements, as well as "intellectual" Liberal groups who are enamored of the British idea, are constantly after his scalp. By reason of his vigorous personality he has thus far been able to impose his will on the Federation, in the face of all opposition from within and without. Radicalism in the organization brand him "reactionary." The Federation of Labor is a distinct organization from the national unions (the brotherhoods) which have sponsored the La Follette candidacy from the beginning.

PERSIANS 'HORRIFIED BY IMBRIE'S DEATH'

Government Note Says Every Endeavor is Being Made to Find Culprits.

By the Associated Press.

TEHERAN, Persia, July 30.—The newspaper Iran today publishes a letter from the Foreign Minister to the American Minister, saying the Government and the nation are horrified and sorrowful over the killing of Vice Consul Imbrie and that every endeavor is being made to find the culprits, who will be severely punished.

The American legation here has not yet received the Persian Government's reply to the recent note of the United States Government.

Police Say Practically Whole Mob at Hospital Was Arrested.

LONDON, July 30.—According to the Morning Post the Persian Legation here is in receipt of an official statement from Teheran declaring that, contrary to other advices, the Persian police made a great effort to rescue Maj. Imbrie, the American Vice Consul who was killed by a mob in the Persian capital, July 18. One policeman was killed in this endeavor and several were injured, it is stated.

Far from neglecting their duty by failing to prevent the crowd from breaking into the hospital where Maj. Imbrie had been removed, it is declared the police actually arrested practically everybody implicated in the hospital attack.

The Government stated that some days prior to the disturbance much sectarian feeling was manifested among participants in the religious demonstrations going on in Teheran. The police and soldiers therefore had been cautioned to avoid any action tending to aggravate the overexcited state of the crowds. The Government not for a moment anticipating that grounds would arise for an attack on foreign residents. It was in view of this, the statement says, that the police withheld firing upon the mob when Maj. Imbrie was attacked.

BROTHERS HELD FOR MURDER OF PARENTS, SEEK RELEASE

Defense Counsel Will Request That Case, Based on Third Brother's Charges, Be Quashed.

LANCASTER, Pa., July 30.—Declaring that the prosecution had failed at the preliminary hearing to substantiate the charges of murder against Benjamin F. Dorshimer, and his brother, Chester A. Dorshimer, of Lancaster City real estate dealer, and his brother, Chester A. Dorshimer, of Harrisburg, Pa., counsel for defense, also, is preparing to institute habeas corpus proceedings in the Lancaster County Court.

The Court will be asked to hold a hearing Friday or Saturday, and the attorney announced that they would seek to have the case quashed because of "lack of evidence." The accused are alleged to have caused the death of their aged parents in Lancaster in 1919.

The Dorshimer brothers were held without bail at the close of a hearing yesterday before Justice of Peace of Gap, near here, at which their accuser, Frank E. Dorshimer, another brother, was the principal witness. After the hearing the defendants were returned to the Lancaster County prison.

Frank Dorshimer testified that Chester had "confessed" four years ago to the killing of their parents and that later Benjamin also had told him that Chester was the slayer. Benjamin was named executor in the will.

The witness said his two brothers had committed the deed to get possession of their father's estate.

JUROR SAYS FALLON GAVE HIM $1000 BILL

Charles W. Rendigs Testifies at Bribery Trial as Government Witness.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, July 30.—Charles W. Rendigs, the juror whom William J. Fallon, criminal lawyer, was alleged to have bribed in the trial of the Durrell-Gregory stock swindling case in 1922, was called as a Government witness today at the trial of Fallon in Federal Court on a charge of bribery.

Rendigs, who is under conviction for perjury as a juror in the E. M. Puryear Co. bucket shop case in the State court, is the Government's star witness in the trial of Fallon.

On examination by Assistant United States District Attorney Millard, Rendigs said Fallon communicated with him on the day after the Durrell-Gregory trial began.

"How did he communicate with you?" asked the prosecutor.

"By a telephone message to my house," answered the witness.

"What did he say on that occasion?" continued Mr. Millard.

"It's this a private wire?" he asked, and I replied that it was. He then asked, "Do you want to meet someone tonight to your financial benefit, and will you meet me at the Woodmanster Inn at 8 o'clock?"

Rendigs said he accepted the lawyer's invitation and went to the inn, arriving about 8 o'clock. Fallon came about half an hour later, the witness said.

Was Given $1000 BILL.

"Fallon walked up the stairway and beckoned for me to follow," Rendigs continued. "When I approached him he shook hands and then said to me, 'Those Gregory crimes are done; fellow: they are friends of mine, and I want you to do all you can for them.'"

Fallon then slipped a $1000 bill into his hand, the witness declared. He quoted Fallon as then saying: "There'll be more money in this case, and whatever I get I'll divide with you. You will get in touch with you from time to time."

Rendigs said he then went home and that he carried the $1000 bill in his pocket until Oct. 20, when he took it to his bank. He admitted he held the bill the two weeks because he "wanted to disguise it."

Gets Check for Bill.

Two weeks after receiving the $1000, Rendigs said, Fallon told him over the telephone that he (Rendigs) would not receive as much money as he had expected. Rendigs said he replied that he hoped he would get the rest of the money soon as he had a $2000 note which would soon be due.

On Nov. 4, the witness testified, he asked Fallon about the other defendants. Rendigs said Fallon responded:

"All I am concerned about is the Gregorys. Vote as you please on the others. All I care about is the Gregorys. There will be an individual vote on each defendant." The next day, Rendigs continued, Fallon told him to go to the Knickerbocker Grill, where he would receive an envelope from Joseph L. Pani, the proprietor. Rendigs said he did as he was told and that the bookkeeper at the grill gave him the envelope which contained a $1000 bill. He said he gave the cash back to Pani, requesting the proprietor's check for it. This check, Rendigs asserted, he deposited in time to meet the note.

After a meeting at the Woodmanster Inn in the Bronx, a few days later, Rendigs said he saw no more of Fallon during the remainder of the trial.

Rendigs testified that the vote for acquittal of the Gregorys stood first 7 to 5 and later 8 to 4.

Voted for Acquittal.

"How did you vote on the Gregorys," Assistant Federal Attorney Millard asked.

"I voted for acquittal," the witness replied.

He admitted he urged the jurors who favored the conviction of the Gregorys to vote for acquittal.

Not long after Rendigs had been indicted for accepting the bribe, he said he met Fallon at the later's request.

"He said I should not worry," the witness asserted, "that every thing would come out all right; that the case would never even go to trial."

Rendigs recounted that he had been tried for perjury and found guilty here last May.

Fallon took the witness over for cross examination.

What Is Neuritis?

Neuritis is an inflammation of the nerves that produces sharp, darting pain very similar to that of rheumatism. In fact, the disease is often mistaken for rheumatism and treated as such, with the result that the sufferer gets no relief and grows worse.

Neuritis is usually brought on by cold, injuries, bruises, nervous exhaustion, malarial, poisoning or infectious diseases. The pain may be confined to one spot or it may move from place to place. Sometimes it is accompanied by soreness. In some cases, numbness in the hands or feet, lame back, stiff joints, eye strain or severe headaches.

The only way to obtain permanent lasting relief is to heal the affected nerves—get rid of the inflammation. Hop Neuritis Tablets are compounded for that very purpose. Harmless, pleasant and safe. Send for package will cost you. Price $1.00.

CHILD IS FOUND TIED TO WALL WITH GRAPES PUT BEFORE HER

Man Says He Did It to Curb Temper—Accused of Putting Sugar on Her Chest to Draw Flies.

By the Associated Press.

OMAHA, July 30.—A police Sergeant yesterday found Mary Hill, 3½ years old, tied to a wall in the home of Roy Hill, with her hands above her head and a tantahizing plate of grapes in front of her.

Hill, who was arrested, said the child had a bad temper and that he had to "do something to curb her." He admitted he had tied the girl up, but denied an accusation of the child and her sister, Dorothy, 5, at least had put sugar on her chest so flies would torture her. Hill was also accused of tying the little girl up with a cherry dangling in front of her, and of smearing glue on her face and sprinkling feathers over it.

The child was placed in Hill's care by her father, who is divorced.

President Candidate Denies He Plans Military Action If Poll Shows Defeat.

By the Associated Press.

MEXICO CITY, July 30.—Gen. Angel Flores has issued a denial of reports that he would resort to military action in case the final official returns from the presidential elections were against him. In a telegram from Culiacan, Sinaloa, made public from his campaign headquarters here, he says:

"We must await the final verdict, and, if this is adverse, preserve our unity for the purpose of continuing the fight upon purely democratic grounds, since our party is powerful and popular because of the principles which it supports, and a simple passing incident cannot kill the aspiration of an entire people." Gen. Flores also denied planning to leave the country.

MILK SELLS FOR 1¢ A QUART

Wichita Stores at War, Slash Prices Lower and Lower.

By the Associated Press.

WICHITA, Kan., July 30.—Milk sold at two of the city's leading grocery stores yesterday for one cent a quart, as a result of a milk war. The price-slashing began when one of the stores reduced the price of grade "A" milk from 12 to 11 cents and then kept on lowering it.

Slight rallies occurred in the late trading, however, on receipt of news that a third store, which entered the war, had dropped out at the nine-cent mark, and prices rose from one to two cents where they remained for the rest of the day.

LOGAN HAS DIFFICULTY TRYING TO GET RID OF HIS HANDLE, "COLONEL"

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, July 30.—THE American official observer at the interallied conference, James A. Logan Jr., who is credited with having saved the conference from a possible breakdown Monday, has in hand another task as difficult as the one of helping settle the reparations problem when.

This is trying to get rid of his military title of "Colonel." He was an army officer for 26 years, but resigned in 1922, and now that he is a civilian, he would like to be known simply as Mr. Logan. At the opening day of the conference, it was announced that the American Ambassador, Mr. Kellogg, and a man who wished to be known as Mr. Logan would participate.

Over here where nearly everybody who really is anybody has a "handle" of some kind, the announcement was difficult to believe. Neither the newspapers nor the officials would acquiesce in Logan's desire.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, July 30.—The Reparations Commission left Paris for London at 4 o'clock this afternoon to assume a part in the interallied conference which is considering means of putting the Dawes plan into operation. The suggestion that the Reparations Commission be summoned was made by James A. Logan Jr., American representative at the London conference. Mr. Logan is the official American observer with the Reparations Commission during its sitting in Paris.

The Reparations Commission delegates will meet Sir John Bradbury, the British ambassador already in London, and hold a plenary session in the British capital at 10 o'clock Thursday morning.

FRENCH CONCEDE POINT ON DEFAULTSBy JOHN L. BALDWINSON, London Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

LONDON, July 30.—The French and Belgian committee of military and technical experts have adopted a joint scheme providing for military evacuation of the Ruhr.

The speed of the evacuation is to be determined strictly by the promptness and faithfulness with which the Germans carry out their obligations under the Dawes plan and hand over the deliveries in kind to be effected as compensation for the evacuation.

The French formula provides for a resort to arbitration when the Interallied Reparations Commission is not unanimous in declaring a German default. The commission in that event would seem the case before the three arbitrators, one of whom would be an American.

Prior to the meeting of the experts, the "Big Seven"—for after the "Big Five" had been increased to the "Big Six" by the addition of Baron Ishii, Japanese Ambassador at Paris, the Belgian Foreign Minister, Hymans, joined the same circle—had decided that the trial problem does not come under the program of this conference. It is a problem for the occupying powers, France and Belgium, and Germany to settle between themselves, the "Big Seven" decided.

Premier Herriot's efforts to raise the question of interallied debts and French security have failed so far to shake the negative of the British and Americans. The French and the Belgians now have decided to make Germany alone bear the military evacuation by a commercial treaty in kind, to be effected by additional deliveries in kind.

Logan's Committee Plan
An invitation to Germany from the "Big Seven" will be sent when an agreement has been reached on the loan dispute, which has dead-

EDITOR GAVE UP LAW, TURNED DEMOCRAT

WAS SENTENCED FOR CONTEMPT IN "SEC ROMERO'S KINGDOM," REPUBLICAN SPANISH-AMERICAN DISTRICT.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., July 30.—New Mexico has been torn asunder by the spectacular flight of an Oklahoma lawyer who forsook his profession in coming to the State four years ago to try his hand at running a newspaper and always telling the truth about everything, as he would have you believe.

This propensity which he upholds as freedom of the press, but which his critics say is license of the press, has brought him in frequent conflict with the courts and private citizens who have resorted to the libel laws to protect their names, but just now he is waging a feud with a Judge of a District Court which only a few days ago was as bloodshot, but has been allowed to break out again no more when.

This lawyer-editor, Carl C. Magee, formerly of Tulsa, Okla., apparently has escaped jail for the second time within a year through pardons issued to him by the Governor of the State. In the last instance, however, he had to remain in jail for 48 hours until his lawyers could get a habeas corpus action before the State Supreme Court. The Sheriff, whose guest he was, took the position that a Governor did not have the right to pardon in case of direct contempt of court. The Supreme Court has freed the editor on bail until it hands down a decision on this point.

Both sentences were in the court of Judge David D. Leahy of the Fourth Judicial District at Las Vegas. Both sentences were accompanied by a denunciation of the prisoner before the bar seldom if ever heard in any court in the United States. For instance, the editor was told he was a political harlot from Oklahoma; a liar, a worse citizen even than the famous Al Jennings, train bandit; that he was a skunk, not even that; for a skunk had a white stripe, and he had no white about him, but was a meanly yellow cur!

WHAT MAGEE SAID; COURT'S INDICTMENT.

Here is what Magee told the Court to its face when he was asked if he had anything to say: "Only I deny that I am being accused due process of law, and I deny that this is a court."

This brought forth a pronouncement of direct contempt of court and a long arraignment of the defendant in which the Court finally delivered this remarkable indictment:

"This Southwestern country in its time had some infamous criminals; Oklahoma had one in the person of Al Jennings, a notorious train robber. For his misdeeds Jennings served a term in the Federal Penitentiary. New Mexico has had similar criminals and one stands out above all others in particular, the infamous train robber, Tom Ketchum, commonly known as 'Black Jack,' who exulted his crimes on the gallows at Clayton, N. M."

"These men were criminals, but in their crimes there was some manhood and bravery shown, in this, that they went out and took a chance; they were spectacular in a way. No doubt they deserved the punishment that was meted out to them, they and each of them, but when compared with the low down lying character assassin such as you, these men appear to be not such bad fellows after all. Some people have referred to newspaper editors as uncrowned kings of thought. There is an old adage which runs, as I now recall, 'Un-easy lies the head that wears a crown,' but you, being uncrowned, can lie so extremely easy that it seems well nigh impossible for you to tell the truth. By your numerous and lying articles you have shown yourself to be a low down lying scoundrel."

"So-called freedom of the press is not the sole cause for this conflict. Magee now is a Democrat, though when he came to the State he was a Republican. Judge Leahy is a Republican. Gov. Hinkle is a Democrat. The Fourth Judicial District, over which Judge Leahy presides, is composed of the counties of San Miguel and Guadalupe. San Miguel is strongly Republican and it is also strongly Spanish-American. Many of the voters being unable to read or write English, Magee charged that it was the Spanish control of this Spanish-American vote that San Romero, Republican leader, and Judge Leahy have been able to weld a "copper riveted" machine which had been corrupt and oppressive and wielded enough power and influence to keep perpetually in power."

The feud that had been growing for a year came to a head in June, 1922, when Magee was indicted in San Miguel County on a charge of criminal libel as the result of certain statements made about Justice

For these scathing comments from the bench there has arisen a sentiment in the State against the Court that has resulted in a somewhat universal demand for the re-ignition of Judge Leahy, or for his

JUDGE DAVID J. LEAHY
CARL C. MAGEE

CARL C. MAGEE

Frank W. Parker of the State Supreme Court. Magee had accused the Clerk of the Supreme Court of not handling the funds of the court in the manner prescribed by law and in this connection said Justice Parker was "so used to the old methods that he saw no evil in them."

MAGEE SENTENCED ON CRIMINAL LIBEL CHARGE.

Magee charged he was being framed and as proof cited the fact that Justice Parker himself had made no complaint regarding the editor. He was tried in Las Vegas, before a jury, as he claimed, of Spanish-Americans, only four of whom could understand English. He was found guilty and sentenced to serve from one year to 18 months in jail. He kept up his attack on the Court through his newspaper during the trial and these articles and certain utterances in the court were the basis of contempt charges brought against him. After a sensational hearing before Judge Leahy he was declared guilty of contempt on four counts. He was sentenced to the penitentiary on sentences totaling 360 days and his publishing company was fined $4000.

After a lively bond sale campaign in his newspaper, Magee suddenly sold the newspaper and refunded the money which had been paid to him for bonds which had not yet been issued.

DEFEAT IF HE ATTEMPTS TO RUN FOR RE-ELECTION.

Defeat if he attempts to run for re-election, although he has been on the bench for 12 years.

SOME SAY BOTHHAVE EXCEEDED RIGHTS.

There are many persons and several newspapers who are saying that both citizen and Judge have exceeded their rights, but zealous followers of both are blindly helping to carry the feud along.

Magee, undaunted, announced that he would carry on his fight against the Judge until he forced him off the bench. It seems to be that with the Governor behind him he can go to any limit and this limit is to pull the Judge up to see his doubts if the Judge has made an honest decision in his court in 10 years and other equally as serious charges. These attacks continue despite his two sentences.

Where it will end no one knows.

The Governor received many messages urging him to call out the National Guard to free Magee when it became known that the Sheriff was refusing to consider the Governor's pardon. More devoted followers of the editor in Las Vegas wanted to attempt to free him by force and there was actual fear of bloodshed in some quarters.

However, the Sheriff explained that he was only refusing to free the editor so that the question of pardon for direct contempt of court might be cleared up finally by a decision of the Supreme Court and this allayed the feeling.

But the cause for the conflict still exists and like two feuds no one knows when there will be another outbreak.

So-called freedom of the press is not the sole cause for this conflict. Magee now is a Democrat, though when he came to the State he was a Republican. Judge Leahy is a Republican. Gov. Hinkle is a Democrat. The Fourth Judicial District, over which Judge Leahy presides, is composed of the counties of San Miguel and Guadalupe. San Miguel is strongly Republican and it is also strongly Spanish-American. Many of the voters being unable to read or write English, Magee charged that it was the Spanish control of this Spanish-American vote that San Romero, Republican leader, and Judge Leahy have been able to weld a "copper riveted" machine which had been corrupt and oppressive and wielded enough power and influence to keep perpetually in power.

Bought Neutral From Fall and Associates.

Magee's attacks on so-called political gangs, courts and financial interests died soon after he had obtained control by purchase of the Albuquerque Morning Journal. He bought the newspaper from former Secretary of the Interior Fall, a railway attorney and several of their associates. He soon fell out with the Republican organization in the State and after about a year announced that financial interests were pressing him because of his attacks on the political gangs. He appealed to the people to save him by purchasing $60,000 worth of bonds of the American vote that San Romero, Republican leader, and Judge Leahy have been able to weld a "copper riveted" machine which had been corrupt and oppressive and wielded enough power and influence to keep perpetually in power.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

A Great Governor.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
WE are hearing and reading a great deal these days about the apathy that has come over the people and the indifference of the voters in expressing their preferences at the polls. In times past, when men took a great and fervent interest in politics, the man on the street was alive and posted on the political questions of that day. Political opinions were heard on every corner. Every person knew the political complexion of his neighbors; men were positive in their political opinions. But in 1924 there was an innovation introduced. Not a few large corporations throughout the country attempted and did dictate to their employees how they should vote. The presidential campaign of that year saw practically the ending of the torch-light procession which hitherto had been the life of all political campaigns. The man on the street has arrived at the conclusion that his vote doesn't count. The workingman has seen his clubroom—the place where he was wont to assemble after the toll of the day and enjoy a draught of cold, refreshing and wholesome beer while he partook of some free lunch—swept away by tyrannical fanatics, and without his having a chance to cast his vote in protest. The man on the street had been taught to believe that he lived in "the land of the brave and the home of the free," whereas when he came to be, alas, disengaged that he lived in the land of the Antisaloon League and the home of the fanatic. The man on the street ordinarily is a Christian—a real Christian; he would like to see the so-called laws changed so that in the event that Jesus Christ would put in his appearance in the U. S., that he wouldn't be spirited off to jail by the enforcement officers. But he has lost heart.

On the 5th of August, Missouri will hold a Statewide primary for all State officers. The press has had a great deal to say about the several candidates for Governor. In order to be a successful Governor—one in whom the State could justly be proud—the candidate must prominently be above the mediocres in mentality; secondly, he must be a man of rare courage—one who will neither shirk, trim nor dodge. There is just such a man in the field in the person of Judge Sam Priest; he fills the bill to a T. He resigned the judgeship of the U. S. court, which is pretty conclusive evidence of his splendid ability as a lawyer. Secondly, he has the great good fortune to be a member of the Antisaloon League and the wholly un-American "invincible empire," and tell the world in choice English precisely what they are. Judge Priest would make for Missouri a great Governor, and Missouri is entitled to a great Governor.

FRANK FITCH.

The League and Gus.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
WHAT a ridiculous position the Antisaloon League takes in the coming election. We find them recommending the election for Attorney-General of Missouri a mere youth of 31 years, who, while a graduate of law, has not practiced that profession. They dwell at considerable length on the importance of this office, and yet, because this man, they claim, made an enviable record as a prohibition officer, they are willing to cast aside all other consideration of his fitness for such an important post.

Why don't they come out and say that he is too young, is without the proper experience, therefore without the necessary ability. Surely, with all the other candidates, well-meaning, capable and law-abiding citizens, they could easily ignore this young man whom the late Judge Dyer so aptly referred to as one who could put a feather in his cap and strut himself to death.

W. K.

Why Wheeler Accepted.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
THE impelling motives for the so-called great renunciation of party fealty on the part of Burton K. Wheeler and his decision to ally himself with the progressives headed by La Follette seems to me to be this:

The astute Montanan may safely be assumed to have entertained some doubts as to the wisdom of his contemplated action, until two important facts worthy of consideration at the hands of a politician whose forte is expediency were brought to his attention. First, in the natural order of things, the day is not far distant when Mr. La Follette must necessarily lay aside the mantle of leadership of the progressive party, in which eventuality Wheeler would be his logical successor did he accept the second place on the progressive ticket with necessary professional benefits that would come to him in that eventuality.

Second, and of paramount importance in looking for the motives by which he appears to be actuated, is the fact that his and the progressive party's campaign expenses will in all human probability be underwritten by Frank E. Vandenberg, former banker and erstwhile reformer. Voters can easily understand the situation.

The question now seems to hinge on whether Vandenberg's money is not as badly tainted as Morgan's. The voter should have little difficulty in choosing as between Davis and Bryan and La Follette and Wheeler.

C. F. D.

DON'T APE THE KAISER.

To those who questioned the practical judgment and loyalty to sound principle of Gov. C. W. Bryan of Nebraska his reply to the charge that he would not co-operate with the national administration in the defense test on Sept. 12 is reassuring. Mr. Bryan sensibly says that he will comply with orders by mobilizing the National Guard, but he will not mobilize the civil and industrial man power and mind power because it would be costly and wasteful and would be unwise to have a great demonstration of the war strength of the nation when there is no necessity for it. He condemns "a military gesture of a national holiday devoted to preparation for war."

We believe in sensible national defense preparation. We believe that so long as there is not an effective international guarantee against war and the United States is not putting its strength into any association or combined movement of the nations to prevent war and establish justice and peace, this country should be well prepared for war. But we do not believe in great armaments or in inviting fear or resentment or armament competition on the part of other nations by flaunting our war resources or predatory power.

PROTECT STREET CAR SERVICE.

In the consideration of the issuance of further permits for motor bus lines the Board of Public Service has a very important decision to make. Even though allowance be made for Col. Perkins' interest in opposing the additional lines, it is well known that the United Railways has little margin on which to sustain any further handicap.

Suburban residents or others not served by trolley naturally wish service to their homes. This can and should be furnished but without reducing service or raising fares for the 75 per cent of the people who depend on trolley cars. The bus service has its place and is needed. But it cannot take the place of street cars, as would be quickly demonstrated if the latter should be put out of commission. Moreover, the closed and heated rail cars are a happy refuge for bus and automobile riders when it becomes too cold to ride outside or drive comfortably.

The motor busses, at a 10-cent fare and with no investment in the streets, must be making good profits or they would not be constantly seeking to extend their lines and would not demand, in case of sale, what Perkins calls double their investment.

The Board of Public Service should consider earnestly the resources and limitations of the United Railways and think hard before they take a step which would risk the present street car service and the present rate of fare or future organization of all transportation on a service at cost basis.

A CRIMINAL REFUGE.

When a representative of the Governor of Illinois refused last Monday the requisition of the Governor of Missouri for delivery of a person alleged to be a fugitive, this State was deprived of a right bestowed by the Constitution of the United States, which provides that a person who flees from justice and is found in another state, shall, "on demand of the executive authority of the state from which he fled, be delivered up to be removed to the state having jurisdiction of the crime."

In the case in point a boy, driving along a highway, was crowded off of a culvert and into a ditch by men in another machine, who drove away and returned with weapons and shot him dead in his tracks. A man was arrested at Springfield, Ill., charged with being one of the murderers. Four persons who knew him well swore to his identity. The countrymen of the accused rallied with the usual alibi. A Statehouse functionary, without submission of the question to Gov. Small, refused the requisition and the man was set free.

The State having jurisdiction of the crime, in spite of the positive character of its partial showing of proof, was denied jurisdiction of the accused person and is precluded, as long as the State of Illinois continues to be a State of refuge for this person, from subjecting the question of his guilt or innocence to the full force of its proof. Surely there could be no more certain and sinister way for an incompetent or ill-intended official to defeat the ends of justice and encourage the commission of crime.

It is yet to be shown whether the end of Pittsburgh plus means steel prices minus.

A PERIODICAL OF OPTIMISM.

According to the new city hall publication, "St. Louis Facts, a Municipal Record," we have a rare and perfect city government. Its officers guard you as you sleep and watch for your safety as you cross the street. It provides parks that you may enjoy the beauty of their drives and the coolness of their shade trees. "It is your protector and your refuge; your never-tiring, ever-ready servant." Many more blessings are enumerated in the text. In fact, the entire publication of 16 pages, on glazed paper, with many photographs and colored cover design, is an unmixed chorus of laudation of the city government and all its works. Utopians dreaming of what might have been fallen short of the picture here presented of what already is.

It appears to be a work of rare civic patriotism to issue so handsome a publication setting forth our beauties and blessings that the world may be prompted to come and admire and stay. Boosting for St. Louis is always in order. But who is going to pay the editor and printer to inform us of the perfect state in which we live? The taxpayers, it might be urged, should be quite willing to contribute a little to boost the city, but, so far, we have heard no public clamor for such an organ. Nor can we quite extinguish a thought of the possibility that this pretty periodical was conceived rather to sell the city administration to St. Louisans than to sell St. Louis to the world. Mail subscriptions are 50 cents but local distribution is free.

In beauty, optimism, amplitude and good cheer the new periodical quite outclasses that curt bulletin of uncomfortable statements, "Mind Your Business," published by the Bureau of Municipal Research.

GO TO IT, BOB.

Senator La Follette's candidacy will have been a benefit to the country if he does nothing more than he proposes—drag the operations of the sugar interests and the Tariff Commission into the light. An investigation was ordered 18 months ago for the purpose of relieving the consumer of extortionate prices suddenly raised 50 per cent without discernible economic reason or explanation. There has been no substantial relief and no report. Since the disclosure that a member of the Senate Finance Committee sought to use the tariff-making power to curtail Cuban production the odor of scandal has surrounded the sugar situation.

Senator La Follette is an insatiable seeker of facts and never hesitates to use them. He has performed the country many services. None is likely to have been more valuable than to hammer on this apparent sugar conspiracy until every fact has been brought to light.

DON'T LET GEORGE DO IT.

Europe is threatened with a new low-water mark of humiliation. The dethroned and exiled King George of Greece is about to become a writer of movie scenarios. George has a fortune of only about $125,000, the interest on which is not enough to support him and the retinue of secretaries, chamberlains, aides-de-camp and ladies-in-waiting which the former King, because of his "position," is called upon to support. Even ex-Kings must live, hence George's desperate recourse.

Compassionate Americans, you who have rescued full many a European refugee and never missed the money, don't let George do it! Consider the sorrowful situation. Here we have one who, in the irony, if not in practice, once was the foremost citizen of the old home town of Socrates. Shall he who flourished there where Sophocles and Aristophanes and their illustrious fellows sang, in silvery strophes or snatched posterity in heroic laughters—shall he be permitted—yea, compelled—to do melodrama for the moron and flaptrap for the flapper?

Alas for the glory that was Greece!

(Copyright, 1924.)SPEECH OF ACCEPTANCE.

Gentlemen: I will put you at ease immediately by saying I accept. If I had been without any desire for the office I would still have felt bound to accept after the speech of notification. Imagine making a speech of notification and then having the candidate refuse the nomination! Every body would, of course, blame it on the notifier, and his humiliation would be shared by all the members of the notification committee.

Yet I ought not to accept. We are going to get the worst drubbing this fall that any political party ever got, and we deserve it. We stole too much. We tried to steal during one administration enough to keep the party in clover for 30 years.

When I heard that I had been nominated I said at once I will not take it. We deserve to be rebuked. The people haven't that much sense. We will have to rebuke ourselves. If we do not we will steal everything now and leave nothing to steal in the years to come and cannot hold the party together. If the party lives on booty and the booty is all gone, how can we hope to have a good point of emphasis of finality.

But perhaps the most effective manner in such a controversy would be to let dogs eat dogma. Wherefore, assert that the President did not honor his office, did not dishonor the God we serve and worship, did not shame the nation and did not sin Christianity. Further, we are willing to lay a small wager that we're right, giving the Baptist brother any odds he asks, and leaving the settlement of the question to the parties interested, namely, the nation, Christianity and God.

ONE WHO MARRIED ST. LOUIS GIRL DIES

Society Romance of 30 Years Ago Recalled by Death of Nobleman in Italy.

The death in Italy last Friday of Count Pietro Lante Della Rovere, who married Miss Anne Russell Allen of St. Louis about 30 years ago, recalls a romance that interested St. Louis society at the time.

Word of the Duke's death was received yesterday by William F. Quarier, attorney in St. Louis for the Duke and Duchess, who said he had no information other than that the Duke had died, and that he did not know whether the Duchess would remain in Italy or return to St. Louis.

Miss Allen was a belle in St. Louis society. She was a daughter of Bradford Allen and granddaughter of Thomas Allen, builder of the Southern Hotel and proprietor of the St. Louis Iron Mountain & Southern Railroad.

When her grandfather died, Miss Allen inherited one-seventh of the estate, her share amounting in value to about $200,000. She was first engaged to be married to a young man in Indiana, according to Thomas F. Walsh, 5107 Bates avenue, who was purchasing agent of the railroad, secretary and attorney of the Allen family. Miss Allen broke the engagement, Walsh said today, when the young man's father came to St. Louis and began inquiries concerning her social position and wealth.

The subsequently married the Duke, shortly before which she placed a deed of trust for $30,000 on her inheritance, and took her mother and grandmother with her to live in Italy, where they resided in the Duke's estate, near Rome. Bradford Allen, her father, died in 1918 in Pittsfield, Mass.

A nephew of the Duchess, William Russell Allen, lives in St. Louis, at 4560 Maryland avenue. The family still has extensive realty holdings in this city.

Delegates representing 20 Nations March Through Streets of Christiansia in Solemn Procession.

Among the prominent orators greeting them was Pritsjoef Nansen, who declared that the only way to save the world was to force the states to accept individual morals in politics. This he desired, ought to be the aim of universally people all over the world.

Among the women in attendance are Virginia Gildersleeve, dean of Barnard College, New York, who is president of the federation; President Thomas of Bryn Mawr College and Miss Goldsmith, who is to lecture on international finances.

Telegraphic congratulations were sent by Secretary of State Hughes, who is now in Paris; from Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald and from Lady Astor.

SUGAR TARIFF REPORT SECRET UNLESS MADE PUBLIC BY PRESIDENT

By the Government was the filing by Attorney-General Daugherty of an unsuccessful injunction suit against the officers of the New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange on April 18.

From March, 1923, until the present time, an investigation of the costs of production of sugar has been pending before the Tariff Commission. The report based upon this investigation will largely determine whether or not existing tariff duties are just and reasonable, and whether or not they should be reduced under the flexible tariff provisions of the Ford-McCumber bill.

"I have closely followed the sugar investigation from its inception, not only because of its great importance to the public, but also because it is the first test, on a large scale, of the extraordinary powers conferred upon the executive under the flexible provisions of the law. The public has a right to know the exact status of the investigation and I have therefore called upon the chairman of the commission for such facts as may properly be made public at this time."

"I have reason to believe that representatives of the sugar interests have been powerful enough to delay through the highest officials

DEDICATION QUEENS MUST EARN THEIR ROYAL HONORS

Candidates for Ceremony at Capitol to Select Members for Missouri Association.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., July 30.—Selection of queens to represent each county of Missouri in the State Capitol dedication ceremonies here on Oct. 6 will not be determined by general vote within each county on the beauty and popularity of the candidates. Instead the Queen contest has been turned over to the Missouri Association and combined with an association membership campaign. Election of the Queen will depend upon their ability to obtain memberships.

According to the rules of the contest only members of the Missouri Association will have a vote on the Queen candidates within the various counties.

The number of votes that may be cast by each member will be determined by the amount of dues he pays annually. The candidates will be supplied with membership blanks and lists of the present members.

It was stated the rule restricting the voting to members of the Association was adopted, in order that contests might be uniformly conducted in each county and every contestant have an even chance.

The queen for the City of St. Louis will not be selected by the membership contest method it was said, but a special plan for St. Louis will be announced later.

Rules of the contest require that the candidates be within ages of 18 and 35 and may be single or married. Applications for entry in the contest must be filed by August 15, with George A. Pickens of Jefferson City, secretary of the Missouri Association. The county Queens elected will be guests of the association during dedication ceremonies and their expenses to and from Jefferson City will be paid.

WAR OF THE JUDGE AND THE JOURNALIST IN NEW MEXICO

tion is of Spanish descent and that a very large percentage of these people cannot read or write English. Interpreters are still employed in nearly all the courts in the State. Interpreters are still used in both branches of the Legislature, although there are now very few members elected from the legitimate body who do not understand English. Still the "natives," as the Spanish-Americans are called, insist on the interpreters as they think a right is being taken away from them unless they are furnished.

The fact that these people are accustomed to the old ways, and the Spanish "dons," are almost blind followers of their leaders, has given great power to political leaders in several of the counties. San Miguel County has long been known as the "Kingdom of San Romero." He is not unpopular among his own people, and many of them fervently worship him as a "King," but with the power he has, he has been accused by the Democratic leaders of abusing it. The same condition exists in several other counties where the native population is in the majority.

It was against this control of the Republican machinery by a few of the "Dons" that Magee began his protest, and which finally led to his being read out of the party. He was adopted by the Democrats, and in the succeeding State election the Democrats succeeded in capturing the State government.

Magee has injected his personality into his fight so much that the State is torn between Magee and anti-Magee factions. He has his firm defenders, and there are many who declare he is a demagogue, an egotist of the worst type, who is appealing to the mob element in the State by unwarranted attacks on anyone who dares to oppose him.

How Another Paper in Albuquerque Views Fight.

This feeling is reflected in an editorial in the Albuquerque Morning Journal, which says:

"The sentence of Carl Magee and his imprisonment do no come as a surprise to a public that has followed, to a nauseating degree, the antics of the editor of the State Tribune. Nor does it come as a surprise to those who have witnessed the venom of which, on several occasions, the court in which Magee was tried was dismembered itself when imposing sentence."

"If there are limits beyond which a citizen dare not go in expressing his contempt for the courts, there are also limits of propriety within which a court, if it is to retain the public respect, must confine itself. The courts are a sacred institution, the foundation stone of our liberty. Destroy the courts as an institution of justice and as a last resort to test the sacred rights of citizens, nothing remains. It is therefore equally incumbent upon a Judge as it is upon a citizen to respect a court of law. In the present case, it must be obvious that both citizen and Judge exceeded their rights."

The mistaken impression has gone abroad that freedom of speech and the liberty of the press are in danger in New Mexico. That is far from the mark. There is a broad distinction between liberty and license. On the contrary, it is deplorably true that both speech and press are permitted to run unbridled to a dangerous degree. The abuse is a thousandfold greater when it is practiced by a newspaper, against which the only redress a citizen has is in the courts.

"For four years Magee has ruthlessly trampled on the character of some of New Mexico's foremost and respectable citizens; he has done so with impunity. He has run the whole gamut of his vituperative and slanderous vocabulary in denouncing Judge after Judge and men of established reputation for honesty and personal integrity. His denunciations have been so often repeated as to make it needless to recite them here. All who disagree with him he has denounced variously as "crooks," "hats," felons," "gaffers." He has consigned men to the penitentiary who have not even had their day in court. He has defied the courts even in the face of the advice of his able counsel that if he persisted he would be reasonably certain to go to jail." Magee has demonstrated that if a man tried hard enough for a thing he will succeed.

"Entertaining as we do, a high respect for the courts, we have refrained hitherto from discussing the merits of a pending case. No one who reads the sentence of Judge Leahy delivered yesterday can harbor anything but contempt for the man over which he presides. By his unguarded utterances, he dragged the name in the dust and himself invited that contempt which he deems a crime in a private citizen. A prisoner at the bar still has some rights which a Judge cannot arrogate to himself the license to violate. And full justice will not have been done in this case, nor due respect shown for the courts, until Judge Leahy either resigns or is removed from the high office he holds."

That just about reflects the sentiment of the more sober-minded and conservative type of citizen in New Mexico. They believe the state has been adversely advertised to the world; that its political life is not unscrupulous; and point out that out of all the charges and condemnations to public official has been found guilty of any wrong doing, which cannot be said of some other states.

Leaders in both parties admit that in education lies the salvation of the "native" people. They were the original settlers of the state and to the Government itself lies the blame for their not having been given an opportunity to be educated in American ways.

ALLIED PARLEY ASKS REPARATION BODY TO LONDON

locked the conference from the beginning.

It is possible to give the text of Logan's suggestions for a compromise, brought forward in subcommittee, providing that the deadlock be solved by a meeting of German representatives with the bankers and Reparation Commission. It reads as follows:

"The committee, having agreed unanimously upon the foregoing recommendation, certain of the members have informally discussed with the bankers the question whether the above provisions would provide a satisfactory basis for the negotiation of the loan contemplated by the experts' plan.

"The results of such informal conferences, as reported to the committee indicate that some additional assurances regarding the declaration of default and the application of sanctions as consequence thereof, may have to be provided.

"The committee is of the opinion that such questions can only be dealt with as part of the terms of the loan, and the character of specific pledges will substantially affect the extent to which concessions may be made as an inducement for loans in the matter of default and sanctions.

The committee suggests that the conference request the German Government to send the Reparations Commission to the Dawes Committee, who will act together in negotiations with the bankers on the terms and conditions of the loan contemplated by the experts' plan.

The Reparations Commission being empowered under the treaty to determine default, and having full right under the treaty to constitute agents and committees and to delegate authority and discretion to such agents and committees and also to grant all needed priorities for the benefit of the loan, is in position, with the commitments from the conference as above stated, to make, if it seems necessary and wise, such further provisions as may well insure the loan contemplated by the experts' plan.

WAR DEPARTMENT REPLIES TO BRYAN ON DEFENSE TEST

Plans, It Is Declared, Do Not Provide for Mobilization of Civil or Industrial Resources.

NO SIGNS OF ALARM ABROAD OVER TEST

Bryan's Orders to Nebraska Guard Will Enable Department to Carry Out Its Plan.

By the Associated Press.
LOVELAND, Colo., July 30.—Declaring he would co-operate with President Coolidge as far as he deems it proper, but declaring that he would not order the mobilization of the Colorado National Guard on Defense Day, Gov. Sweet, in an interview with the Loveland Herald-Reporter, today went on record in opposition to the observance of the day.

Local Mobilization Emphasized.

The document, several thousand words in length, continues in part:

"It is expected that the initial mobilization plans will be in such a state by Sept. 12, 1924, that it will be practicable on this occasion to subject the underlying principles to analysis and tests. Based thereof to analysis and tests. Based, as they are, upon the experience of 1917 and 1918, the policy of decentralization is embodied wherever believed to be practical. Local mobilization, a special feature in the mobilization plans, will be emphasized and tried out by this test. This should eliminate much of the delay and confusion caused by hurried expediency in the past."

"The plans and the decentralized authority to be exercised by corps area commanders and state officials depend for their effectiveness upon the public realizing the methods of operation. Each person should know something of the agencies which guide the efforts of his community."

"Consequently, wherever there are military units of any character on Sept. 12, 1924, the procedure of mobilization will be demonstrated as fully as is practicable without extra expenditure of public funds. Efforts will be made to test the value and also the defects of the plan."

"It is the purpose of the War Department to prescribe the general plan only, leaving to the commanding Generals of corps areas and the District of Washington and to chiefs of branches in connection with activities under their control, the detailed plans for carrying into effect the general plan, which has two main objectives, namely: Patriotic demonstrations and a test mobilization committee."

"The primary purpose of the 'defense test,' according to Gen. Pershing, is to 'enable our people to visualize the initial processes necessary to muster our forces for national defense, as prescribed in the act of June 4, 1920.'

The War Department yesterday issued a statement replying to Bryan's criticism of the plan as He understood it.

Purpose of Test.

The purpose of "defense test" day is to demonstrate and explain what preparations for national defense mean.

"It is to be a day given to patriotic gatherings by citizens of every community, during which everyone will learn his place and portion in the defense of the country should our security be threatened," Gen. Pershing explained.

"Our plans are not secret, as the methods of organization and the success of the system require the co-operation of communities and the voluntary action of individuals. It will be a demonstration of the organization of our armed forces and our dependence upon the great body of citizen soldiers supported by the patriotic people of every community throughout the land."

It has been pointed out by Secretary Weeks and Gen. Pershing that the "defense test" or "inspection day," would be educational, and cannot amount to a general mobilization.

The President, Secretary Weeks and Gen. Pershing believe there is a general misunderstanding of the purpose of the test. The President made it clear today he had nothing further to say on the subject. He indicated he had already said more than was necessary.

Reply to Bryan.

Gov. Bryan "has drawn rather extraordinary inferences from what seems to be a perfectly clear document," the War Department said in a statement.

Referring to Gov. Bryan's previous promise of co-operation, the department statement offered the explanation that the Governor's more recent stand "presumably is due" to the wording of a document issued since then by the corps area commander giving instructions to the reserve officers.

In this document, the statement continued, "no reference can be found to mobilization of civilians."

"The nearest approach to this," it added, "is a statement in the document that civilians who volunteer their services for the day, will be permitted to parade with National Guard and organized reserve organizations. In order that the process of mobilization may be stimulated, The fact that all participation by civilians in the 'Defense test' is purely voluntary has been emphasized in all instructions in regard to the test."

DEFENSE TEST ORDER CALLS FOR SOME OBSERVANCE OF DAY IN EVERY COMMUNITY

Provides for Filling Up for Day of Military Units—Purpose Described as "Patriotic Demonstration and Test Mobilization."

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, July 30.—Plans for the observance of Sept. 12 as Defense Day are laid down in detail in instructions sent by the War Department to the chiefs of all its branches and to the commanding generals of all corps areas.

As made public by the department for the first time today, the instructions say that the general plan for the day has three main objectives, "namely patriotic demonstrations and a test mobilization." By way of passage, it is explained that in line of "extensive field exercises" which for economic reasons cannot be held during the present calendar year, the Secretary of War had decided to initiate for continental United States a mobilization demonstration which will serve as an occasion for assemblies and ceremonies involving public manifestations of loyalty and practical patriotism."

STRONG BID FOR THE GERMAN VOTE BY H. S. PRIEST

Candidate for Democratic Nomination for Governor Spending Much Time in G. O. P. Wards.

MANY ADDRESSES IN SOUTH ST. LOUIS

Aspirant Taking Advantage of Indication That Many Habitual Republicans W Desert That Party.

The advantage gained in the race for the Democratic nomination for Governor by former Federal Judge Henry S. Priest in South St. Louis is being pressed to the limit.

German-American Republicans of wet and other liberal leanings indicated last week that they intend to enter the Democratic primary in considerable numbers to try to bring about Priest's nomination.

So Priest is speaking again and again in that territory to make the most of the opportunity which exists there.

In his speech at Tower Grove Turner Hall, Grand Boulevard and Juniper street, last night, Priest declared that leaders of the Democratic organization here had told him that he could not be nominated.

Nature of His Plea.

"Who are they to believe that they can deliver the people of this city or State? The polls like so many sacks of oats?" wrathfully inquired the candidate.

"When the people are aroused to the fact that such a sentiment exists among some of their leaders they will rise in their might and demand their elimination. Any party leader who stands in the way of free expression of liberty must fall."

Priest's entry into the primary campaign was deprecated by most of the members of the Democratic City Committee of St. Louis because in the beginning that organization was wedged in large part to the candidacy of George H. Moore of St. Louis, and Priest's growing popularity with liberal voters in St. Louis is regarded as a severe blow to the Moore chances of success.

Moore left little undone to handicap the Priest campaign.

Ku Klux Klan Assailed.

The former Judge last night renewed his plea that the voters who believe in preservation of personal liberty and who do not believe in the "two heresies of the Ku Klux Klan and the Antisaloon League" support him to give notice that the people "will not forever submit to the things for which those organizations stand."

Priest will speak tonight at Concordia Turner Hall, Thirteenth and Arsenal streets.

Committee Supports Priester by Jacob's Managers.

Floyd E. Jacobs of Kansas City, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor, will have the support of 11 members of the Democratic City Committee in the primary next Tuesday, his St. Louis managers announced today.

The wards in which Jacobs will have committee support were listed by the Jacobs leaders as follows:

Third, Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, Ninth, Tenth, Eleventh, Nineteenth, Twenty-third, Twenty-fourth and Twenty-seventh.

Most of the other 17 members of the committee are remaining steady in their allegiance to George H. Moore of St. Louis.

Clarence Ruhr was sued for divorce yesterday by his wife, Mabel, 20, who sets forth as cause his conviction of robbery and present imprisonment in the penitentiary. They were married in Venice, Ill., Aug. 25, last, and separated four days later. Ruhr and another man were arrested last fall and confessed 11 weeks of robbery and revelry, during which Ruhr married. The robberies included the holdup in the Jersey Farm Dairy Co. office, 3628 Evans Avenue, in which $1500 was stolen.

MRS. FERGUSON STILL SECOND

Overnight Returns in Texas Primary Make Little Change.

By the Associated Press.
DALLAS, Tex., July 30.—Only slight changes in the margin Mrs. Miriam Ferguson, candidate for Governor of Texas, had over Lynch Davidson for second position and place on the list of primary candidates noted in the overnight returns for Saturday's Democratic primaries as tabulated by the Texas Election Bureau today.

Reports from 237 out of 262 counties, 98 completed, showed Felix Robertson leading the field with 176,216 votes. Mrs. Ferguson is second with 129,428, while Lynch Davidson was a close third with 126,879. The six other candidates for Governor were virtually out of the race.

night for conferences.

Baker spent yesterday in Franklin County, finishing the day with a speech at Washington last night.

In that address he delivered a mild thrust at Lieutenant-Governor Lloyd, one of his opponents in the statement of his government. If a man commits a crime, and after a fair trial is found guilty and sentenced to the penitentiary, he will go there and stay his full time if I am Governor."

Lloyd has been criticized because while acting Governor on several occasions he signed a number of paroles and one commutation of a death sentence. All of the paroles, however, have been recommended by the State Board of Pardons and Paroles.

Mrs. Melvina T. Smith Endorsed by Labor Committee.

Mrs. Melvina T. Smith of University City, State Representative from the Second District of St. Louis County, who is a candidate for the Democratic nomination to succeed herself, has received a letter confirming her work in the last legislative session and wishing her success in the campaign, from the Missouri Joint Legislative Committee, representing the State Federation of Labor and the railway unions.

The letter said, in part: "We find that you have been uniformly fair to the farmer, to labor and the common people in general, and we heartily endorse your record and commend your candidacy to the favorable consideration of the organized farm and labor groups and other progressive voters of your county."

Similar commendation of some other legislative candidates has been expressed by the labor group. Mrs. Smith, who was elected by the Clean Election League two years ago, with the largest majority on the ticket, was largely responsible for the new county registration law. She is not making an active campaign.

Reprisals Against Moore in Ku Klux Communities Alleged.

Complaint is made by the headquarters here of George H. Moore, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor, that placards bearing Moore's picture and campaign announcement are being torn from trees, telephone poles and buildings in communities where the Ku Klux Klan is said to be strong.

Moore's candidacy has prospered largely through his attack upon the hooded organization, which is engaged now in reprisals, Moore's supporters believe.

KOELN IN ONE OF HOTTEST FIGHTS IN POLITICAL CAREER

CITY COLLECTOR BACKING SCHULER AS REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE FOR SHERIFF AGAINST MCKELVEY.

City Collector Edmond Koeln, for many years one of the real powers in Republican politics in St. Louis, is engaged in probably one of the hardest fights of his political career in endeavoring to accomplish the nomination of City Marshal Anton Schuler as the Republican candidate for Sheriff over Director of Public Safety James N. McKelvey.

So intense has the fight become that 17 of the 21 precinct committeemen in Koeln's home ward, the Twelfth, where his word has been the law during many campaigns, are lined up against their former chieftain. Under the leadership of Joseph Metzler, the Twelfth Ward member of the Republican City Committee, they are backing McKelvey.

Koeln's Previous Victories.

Koeln long has been a trial and a tribulation to most of the members of the Republican City Committee. The most outstanding samples of the sort of thing for which certain of the committeemen dislike Koeln were the "Three K's" and "Housecleaner" campaigns, in both of which Koeln bested the majority of the committeemen.

The "Three K's" fight was one in which nominations for judgeships in the Circuit Court and Court of Criminal Correction here were at issue, a majority of the members of the City Committee having endorsed three candidates who had been born with "K." Koeln co-operated with women's and civic organizations and newspapers to smash the slate, only one of whose members was nominated.

In the "Housecleaner" fight, the Koeln organization supported Hyde for the Republican nomination for the governorship against E. E. McJamey of Springfield and supported Charles E. Mohrstadt for Sheriff against John Schnell, among others, again being successful against the majority of the committee.

Present Lineups.

This time, however, even Koeln's own committeeman, Metzler, has gone with 25 others of the 28 members of the city central body against the Koeln choice for Sheriff.

Whether the Koeln strategy can triumph again over the mass of the opposition is a matter of discussion in political circles. The Collector is not taking defeat as a prospect in any degree. He has formed a new precinct organization of his own in his home ward and is driving as hard as he never drove before. For while it is said that the Collector may not aspire to be a candidate for public office in St. Louis, contemplating retirement at the end of his term to devote himself to his banking business, he would not desire to retire under the shadow of a defeat.

So those of the Koeln lieutenants who have remained loyal are getting a taste of real campaigning this week.

Only two of the 28 city committeemen are outside the McKelvey camp. Peter H. Anderson of the First Ward, who is supporting Fred Gehner, a third candidate for the Sheriff nomination, and who resides in that ward, and Schuler himself, committeeman from the Sixth Ward.

This at least is the claim of the McKelvey leaders.

No Stake on Other Offices.

On other offices the committee has no slate. More than 20 of its members are supporting Lieutenant-Governor Hiram Lloyd for the Republican nomination for the governorship, with five or six for Sam A. Baker of Jefferson City and possibly one for Victor J. Miller of St. Louis, Fred C. Delporte of the Fifteenth Ward.

Twenty-five of the 28 are for Assistant Attorney-General Robert Otto for the nomination for the attorney-generalship over Gus O. Nations of St. Louis, former Federal prohibition officer. Most of them also are supporting Secretary of State Charles U. Becker for re-nomination and C. Eugene Stethem for State Treasurer. State Senator Phil A. Bennett of Springfield and Leslie Lyons of Kansas City are dividing support for the Lieutenant-governorship.

The committeemen are completing their slates on local offices, which are the product largely of inter-ward trades, not all of which have been consummated. Sample ballots by which the committeemen inform their constituents of the organization desire in the several wards will be printed and circulated in most instances before the end of the week.

Frank Boroway, 4-year-old son of Ignatz Boroway, 317 (rear) Collinsville avenue, East St. Louis, was burned to death yesterday after

The matches had been left in the shed, which was used for housing a paper baling machine, by workmen. Stacks of scrap paper stored in the shed caught fire and the place was a mass of flames when the boy's mother, attracted by John's screams, arrived at the scene. She was unable to reach the younger child. Firemen who arrived a few minutes later extinguished the blaze and recovered the boy's body.

Rickeymen Turn a Triple Play, Their Second of Season

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

PHILADELPHIA, July 30.—With only a two-point hold on sixth place, the Cardinals got off to a bad start this afternoon in their opening game with the Phillies here. Leo Diekerman, in the box for the Rickeymen, was pounded for four runs in the first inning.

Diekerman was taken out with two men on base in the second inning and Sherdel went in. The next batter hit into a triple play. Jimmy Ring was in the box for Fletcher's team.

The game:

Blades dropped Holke's fly. Wrightstone going to third and Holke reaching second. Ford singled to center, scoring Wrightstone and Holke. ind match against Bierman.
holder of the world's ight crowd, in this city
ing of Thursday, Aug. 31, ard announced today.

tonight's match is to be just a handicap affair; but more significance attaches to it than appears on the surface. If Plestina loses his agreement to pin London twice in 90 minutes, he will have made a better showing than London Lewis himself has been able to do within the past year and will have demonstrated his fitness to wrestle for the title.

Leach Cohen of the National Athletic Association said this afternoon that the show will be held tonight unless it is raining at the time the bouts are scheduled to start. But in the event rain prevents the program tonight it will be held tomorrow night.

The wrestlers have been training for 18 days and a postponement would force a resumption of conditioning which was completed yesterday.

Not a Title Event.

The advance sales has been insufficient to assure the guarantees of $5000. As the contest is a handicap affair, the situation is not remarkable.

The easier manner in which London from Bierman was a saw was hard fought.
was reached the semifinal in the men's singles event annual Municipal tennis ship at Forest Park, by defeating William H. Washington University.

The interest is due to the intense rivalry between the principals and to the desire of the public to find out just how good Ple-stina is.

Title-holder after title-holder has refused to meet Plestina on the mat or an another.

At one time Bernard McFadden, the publisher of a physical culture magazine, announced that he held a certified check for $25,000 to guarantee a purse for the champion who could toss the challenger. None took up the proposition.

Lewis Sidesteps Challenger.
Since that time Joe Marsh, manager of the Bierman team, by eliminating the top players in straight sets and by promising a $1000 bonus if London gained a fall, he has been a champion had himself seriously.

STEEL RISES BUT MARKET IRREGULAR

Profit-Taking in Stocks — Bonds Generally Are Fairly Steady — French Franc Under 5 Cents.

Markets in Brief

NEW YORK, July 30.—Today's markets in brief: Gold irregular; steel issues strong; rails weak; Liberties reach new record; reet. Foreign Exchange—Lower; French franc falls below 5 cents; Cables steady; weather report. Sugar—Easy; increasing offerings. Coffee—Lower; weak Brazilian market. CHICAGO. Wheat—Lowest gain in Canada. Corn—Easy; fine weather. Cattle—Steady. Hogs—Lower; limited demand.

By LOUIS WIRE from the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, July 30.—The Evening Post in its copyrighted financial review says:

"Profit-taking was the keynote struck in the principal financial markets. A rather vigorous advance during the greater part of the day in industrial stocks, led by Steel common, was halted as the final hour of trading began. Some profit-taking, of a more or less regular nature, was general and brisk, but its effects were noticed mainly among the railroad shares. For a time the market had an appearance of distinct weakness, with losses of 2 and 3 points common, and the long-predicted decline seemed to be getting well under way. Some recovery was had later, however, although the close was irregularly lower. Trading for the twelfth day in succession exceeded a million share in volume. Among the bonds, despite irregularity in specific descriptions, prices generally were fairly steady. Trading was moderately active and some of the Liberties again established new high records. Call money rates held at 2 per cent throughout and further ease in time money and acceptances was accompanied by speculation as to another lowering of the reserve discount rate."

French Franc Lower. A sagging of the French franc against the dollar is the only feature of the foreign exchange market. France were offered in only moderate volume but buyers were scarce and the price did not rise to 4.90 francs. At London also the franc was weak, in the face of steadiness in sterling, and from that quarter came reports of French buying of dollars. Doubtless the deadlock on reparation is becoming too hot to draw out to suit all. In addition, tourist demand for francs, which has done much to support the price this summer, now is waning. Sterling was 4 cents lower to $1.16. On the other hand, lire were steady and Swiss francs were quoted at a new high for the year.

"Extensive profit-taking likewise came into the commodity markets. In the wheat market the principal reason for the selling was the news of rains in the Canadian Northwest and some sobering thoughts on the size of the American crop. Selling spread sympathetically to oil seed, September corn, cotton, sugar, and tobacco. The market was 2 cents lower to 31.31 cents a bushel. Price it was still 1½ cents lower. The same corn option broke 2 cents but made up half of the loss.

"Rain in Texas was the signal of general selling of cotton, which has become nothing more than a weather trading market. At a late price of 27.25 cents, the October future was 105 points lower.

Special Industry Section. "Weekly review of the steel industry reveal little change in fundamental conditions. A continuance of the moderate increase in prices which has come since the first of the month, is indicated. However, this is not a necessary sequence to the depletion of stocks in consumers' hands and forward buying has yet to put in its appearance." At present, according to the Iron Age, the market is improved, though the average rate of operations for the industry doubtless is nearer 45 than 43 per cent of capacity. The price iron market, meanwhile, shows some what more resistance to pressure for price concessions.

WELFAR LODGE CEREMONY FOR JUDGE ANTHONY ITTNER

Men Welcomed Into Office as Part of Order Made Up One Man and Presented With $500 Fox.

A large and colorful lodge celebration was held at Alhambra Hotel last night when members of the organization gathered to welcome into office Circuit Judge Anthony Ittner, who recently was named grand monarch of the Mystery Order of Veiled Prophets of the Mysterious Realm. The order comprises some 200,000 Master Masons in the United States and Canada.

A street parade in which torches and gaudy uniforms vied for brilliancy preceded the celebration at the Grotto, Judge and Mrs. Ittner riding at the head of the procession in an automobile, followed by the Grotto band, the drums and bugles, corps, squares, women's auxiliaries and about 300 members of the lodge. Many spectators lined the streets along the route, which lay on Grand boulevard, Beauregard, Compton and Gravos avenues. After the parade Judge Ittner was formally welcomed by speakers at the Grotto and presented with a $500 fox with solid gold letters and tassels.

STONE TO TEST CERTAIN OIL LEASES MADE BY FALL

Bill to Be Filed Against Permits on Indian Reservations Sees Radio by Executive Order.

WASHINGTON. July 30.—Cancellation of oil and gas prospecting leases granted under a construction by former Fall of the general leasing act of 1920 applying to Indian reservations established by executive order will be sought by the Department of Justice. More than 20 such permits are in force, of which 18 were granted by Fall.

Opening the new phase of the leasing situation, which is not connected with the naval reserve proceedings being conducted by the special Government counsel, Attorney-General Stone has ordered the filing of a suit against E. H. Harrison, the Midwest Oil Co. and the Southwest Oil Co. for cancellation of a permit involving prospecting rights to 2660 acres in the Navajo reservation in Southern Utah, set aside in 1884 by order of President Arthur.

The lease attacked was the one that brought forth Fall's construction of the act in error. Substitution of the opinion to President Coolidge has been followed by the rejection by Secretary Work of about 400 applications for similar leases.

POLICEMAN URGES LENIENCY FOR YOUTH WHO RESISTED HIM

Claire Baris, 19, Let Off With Fine in Speeding Case.

Claire Baris, 19 years old, of 425 Gates avenue, pleaded guilty of resisting an officer in Police Court today and was let off with payment of $2 costs when the officer, Motor Cycle Patrolman George L. Claude, recommended leniency because of the defendant's youth. Baris also pleaded guilty to speeding and was fined $15 on that charge.

The charges resulted from the arrest of Baris July 13 at Maple avenue and the Wabash tracks. The patrolman, off duty and not in uniform, arrested Baris for speeding 10 miles an hour. Baris, who applied for a warrant against the policeman charging assault, but later dropped the case before a warrant was issued, charged that the officer struck him without provocation. Claude admitted striking the youth, but said he did it only after Baris had struck at him and used vile language in the presence of three women who accompanied the officer in an automobile.

Baris is associated with his father, Joseph Baris, in the clothing business.

THREE 'TRUSTIES' MAKE ESCAPE

Workhouse Honor Prisoners Walk Away From Francis Farm.

Three trusted workhouse prisoners, who broke their word and walked away from Francis Farm to Michelberger and Donovan avenues late yesterday, are being sought today at the inquest of workhouse authorities.

They were three of 15 first offenders stationed at Francis Farm to improve that plot for a city park. One armed guard and a frame dormitory is provided for the men who are sent to the farm on honor. At bedtime, 9:30 p.m., the guard checked his charges and found three missing. He turned on the alarm. Each of the three was serving a six-months term for petit larceny. They were Richard B. Haingsworth, 29 years old, committed June 14; Joseph Murphy, 27, March 18, and Jack White, 27, July 18.

Truck Driver Robbed of $41. Two armed men boarded a hardware supply company truck driven by Alta Taylor, 1514 Cora avenue, when he stopped near Cora and Marion avenues to sort packages at 8 p.m. yesterday. They made him drive to Goodfellow and Kennerly avenues, where they took $41 and the truck. The truck was found at 8 p.m. by police, abandoned near Marion and Natural Bridge avenues. Some of the packages were missing.

ACTRESSES BEHIND FOOTLIGHTS AS WITNESSES IN TRIAL

Duncan Sisters Testify for State at Hearing in Theater Against Policemen.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO. July 30.—Rosetta and William Duncan ("Topsy and Eva"), the comedienne, in the role of prosecutor, witnesses appeared again yesterday on the stage of an Evanston theater for the finale in the case against the Cicero policemen charged with breaking Topsy's nose and feet July 4, when her parents were arrested for a traffic rule violation.

Attorneys for the officers, Chief of Police Svoboda and three patrolmen charged Justice Henry G. Williams, who ranted the theater, invited the audience and ushered them to seats, with "making a vaudeville show out of the trial." Behind the footlights was a crowded house that cheered the actresses and "booed" the policemen when the hearing opened yesterday.

A bundle of fresh green onions resembling a floral tribute was presented to Policeman Wildow, whose case was called first. Bouquets were tendered the Duncan sisters.

Mrs. Rosetta Duncan told how she remonstrated with an officer at the station where her brother was being booked and that while she was powdering her nose before going into the station two officers grabbed her, twisted her arm, kicked her on the shin and hit her on the nose. A physician testified to the extent of the damage done to her nose and other witnesses supplied corroborating details.

The Justice invited his audience, composed largely of housewives and college co-eds, to return again today.

MAN ON WAY HOME SLAIN

Advertising Manager of Masonic Chronicle Found Dead by Wife, Sued by the Post-District.

CHICAGO. July 30.—No clue to the mystery surrounding the shooting of Harry Peters, advertising manager of the Masonic Chronicle, and nationally known in Masonic circles, had been found by police today, five hours after he had been found dying from a revolver bullet within a few hundred feet of his home here.

It was established, however, that robbery was not the motive for the crime since a considerable amount of money, watch, ring and other jewelry was found on the body. The weapon had not been found. Peters was shot when en route from the home of his wife's mother where he had been visiting during his wife's absence in Milwaukee. On her return yesterday she called her mother by telephone and talked to Peters. He told her he was leaving for home immediately.

Peters was shot when en route from the home of his wife's mother where he had been visiting during his wife's absence in Milwaukee. On her return yesterday she called her mother by telephone and talked to Peters. He told her he was leaving for home immediately. A short time later she heard a shot, half drowned by the crashing of thunder in a storm which was sweeping the city. She ran out and found her husband dead. There was no one near the scene at the time, she told the police.

Lloyd Backers Claims He Will Carry 24 St. Louis Wards.

The Hiram Lloyd-For-Governor organization today issued a statement made by Chairman Louis J. Becker of the Republican City Committee of St. Louis, in which Becker declared that Lloyd will carry 24 and possibly more of the 28 wards of St. Louis in the primary Tuesday.

Neither Sam A. Baker of Jefferson City nor Victor J. Miller of St. Louis will cut deeply into the margin by which the Lieutenant-Governor will carry St. Louis, Becker asserted.

Reports Attack and Robbery.

Wesley Boyer, 29 years old, 4100 Lincoln street, who applied at city hospital yesterday for treatment of lacerations on the head and body and a fractured right thumb, told police he was beaten and robbed of $13 by several unidentified men at Eighth street and Cass avenue Monday night.

FINE $500 ON WIFE'S CHARGE

John Kettell, 45 years old, of 1719 South Eleventh street, a pretzel peddler, was fined $500 on a peace disturbance charge in Police Court today. The charge was brought by his wife, Nellie, 40 years old, who complained that Kettell on several recent occasions had beaten her and habitually spent for liquor the money that both made peddling pretzels.

Several times previously Kettell had been arrested on the same charge and on July 22 was fined $200. His appeal from this fine is still pending. The Kettells have been married 22 years.

MAN SHOT BY BROTHER IN FAMILY FEUD, DIES

Walter Regnier Missing Since He Wounded Mathew Regnier Six Months Ago.

County authorities today renewed their search for Walter Regnier, 20 years old, a bartender, of 9000 South Broadway, following the death at Alexian Brothers Hospital yesterday afternoon of his brother, Mathew Regnier, 14, of bullet wounds inflicted by Walter six months ago in a family quarrel in the saloon of their father, Paul Regnier, 9001 South Broadway. Walter disappeared on the day of the shooting, Feb. 15, and has not been seen since.

Mrs. Helen Regnier, wife of the elder brother, who witnessed the affray, said the quarrel arose over family matters relating to the father's business, in which Walter was employed. In the course of the argument, Walter drew a revolver from under the bar and fired at Mathew, the bullet striking him in the right side of the chest and penetrating his body. Walter then fled from the place and Mathew was taken to the hospital, where he remained until his death.

Mathew Regnier, who also lived at 9000 South Broadway, was formerly employed as a fireman at Jefferson Barracks.

CAMPAIN PLANS FOR ROAD REVENUE MEASURE DRAWN UP

Recommendations Are Prepared by State Highway Commission

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, July 30.—The State Highway Commission has prepared recommendations on the organizations to be formed in each county of the State, to carry on the campaign in support of initiative proposition No. 5, the road revenue measure, and will submit them to E. J. McGrew of Lexington, chairman of the State-wide organization, for approval. McGrew recently was appointed State chairman by the commission.

Miss Florence J. Wade of St. Louis, daughter of Festus J. Wade, president of the Mercantile Trust Co., yesterday was appointed vice chairwoman of the State organization, and Mrs. W. T. Donovan of St. Louis was appointed to assist Miss Wade. In St. Louis and St. Louis County, Sam Truble, banker of Springfield, Mo., was chosen treasurer of the State organization. Other appointments will be made later by the commission and McGrew.

As is known, proposition No. 5 is designed to speed up completion of road construction under the $60,000,000 State road bond issue, and to provide additional revenue for completion of the 7640-mile State highway system without further bond issues. If adopted at the November election it will impose a tax of 2 cents a gallon on gasoline used for motor vehicle fuel, increase State license fees for automobiles 50 per cent and authorize the State to sell the $45,000,000 balance of the $60,000,000 bond issue at the rate of $15,000 a year.

DOCTOR AND NURSES SAVE PATIENT ATTEMPTING SUICIDE

Second Effort of Printer Falls When He Is Grabbed by Ankles on Hospital Ledge

The second attempt at suicide in two days by Arthur Muxxy, a printer, 35 years old, resulted in his being suspended from a fifth-floor window at city hospital for five minutes at noon yesterday before he could be drawn to safety.

Muxxy was taken to the hospital Monday after his wife had found him sitting in the bathroom of their home, 1267 Goodfellow avenue, with his throat cut. At that time Muxxy said he was despondent because of ill-health. His wound was dressed, and he was strapped in bed in Ward 16 on the fifth floor of the institution.

At noon yesterday Muxxy slipped his straps, raised a screen, and attempted to dive from a window on the Lafayette avenue side of the hospital. Dr. E. E. Glenn, who observed Muxxy's action, managed to grasp his ankles as he was slipping head first over the window ledge. Two nurses rushed to the physician's aid, but it required a five-minute struggle and additional assistance to get the patient back over the ledge. Muxxy's struggles reopened the wound in his neck, and he is in a serious condition in the observation ward.

CAMPAIN PLANS FOR ROAD REVENUE MEASURE DRAWN UP

Recommendations Are Prepared by State Highway Commission

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, July 30.—The State Highway Commission has prepared recommendations on the organizations to be formed in each county of the State, to carry on the campaign in support of initiative proposition No. 5, the road revenue measure, and will submit them to E. J. McGrew of Lexington, chairman of the State-wide organization, for approval. McGrew recently was appointed State chairman by the commission.

Miss Florence J. Wade of St. Louis, daughter of Festus J. Wade, president of the Mercantile Trust Co., yesterday was appointed vice chairwoman of the State organization, and Mrs. W. T. Donovan of St. Louis was appointed to assist Miss Wade. In St. Louis and St. Louis County, Sam Truble, banker of Springfield, Mo., was chosen treasurer of the State organization. Other appointments will be made later by the commission and McGrew.

As is known, proposition No. 5 is designed to speed up completion of road construction under the $60,000,000 State road bond issue, and to provide additional revenue for completion of the 7640-mile State highway system without further bond issues. If adopted at the November election it will impose a tax of 2 cents a gallon on gasoline used for motor vehicle fuel, increase State license fees for automobiles 50 per cent and authorize the State to sell the $45,000,000 balance of the $60,000,000 bond issue at the rate of $15,000 a year.

DOCTOR AND NURSES SAVE PATIENT ATTEMPTING SUICIDE

The second attempt at suicide in two days by Arthur Muxxy, a printer, 35 years old, resulted in his being suspended from a fifth-floor window at city hospital for five minutes at noon yesterday before he could be drawn to safety.

Muxxy was taken to the hospital Monday after his wife had found him sitting in the bathroom of their home, 1267 Goodfellow avenue, with his throat cut. At that time Muxxy said he was despondent because of ill-health. His wound was dressed, and he was strapped in bed in Ward 16 on the fifth floor of the institution.

At noon yesterday Muxxy slipped his straps, raised a screen, and attempted to dive from a window on the Lafayette avenue side of the hospital. Dr. E. E. The Auction Block—Chapter 3.

MARJORIE was summoned to the drawing room immediately after dinner.

She had had her own dinner upstairs in her sitting room, as was the custom when the family was entertaining.

Mathilda came in, impassive of face, a white chiffon dance frock that had been Julie's, over her arm.

"You're to put this on, Miss Marjorie, and go down to the drawing room, your mother says I was to tell you."

Marjorie obeyed with mild surprise.

"Who is there, Mathilda?" she asked, as the maid's deft fingers began to unfasten her simple dignity gown.

"A Mr. Hollister that they're all making up to, Hutchins says, even Miss Julie and Miss Lelia for their good husbands are there—and that Mrs. Forester from next door," Mathilda added grimly.

She was an old and privileged servant and had her own ideas which she rarely hesitated to voice. Cora Forester, the vivacious widow in the late thirties, who had leased the Dickinson place next door for several seasons, had somehow incurred her disapproval.

She snapped into place the last hook on the white frock and turned the slim figure around to look it over admiringly.

"Hutchins heard this Mr. Hollister ask for you when they sat down to dinner," she announced with satisfaction.

Marjorie was puzzled, as she went slowly down the stairs. She caught a glimpse of herself in the full length mirror on the landing, and was startled at her own appearance. In the white and silver gown, with her pale gold hair, she looked like a bit of moon mist drifting down the richly somber stairs. Her scarlet lips were the only trace of color about her.

Mrs. Boice-Nevins, her sisters, and Mrs. Forester were having coffee when she entered the drawing room. The men were not present.

"My word, Charlotte!" Mrs. Forester broke off her spirited discourse and stared at Marjorie. "You've got a ravishing beauty on your hands! No wonder you keep her in the nursery. When Marjorie comes out, I'm going to cancel my lease and move away. The contrast, at close bands, will be fatal to my vanity."

"My dear!" Mrs. Boice-Nevins, suddenly maternally solicitous, reproved her. "Don't spoil my sweet child with flattery!"

Cora Forester flashed her an amused glance. She wasn't at all deceived about the source of her hostess' solicitude. She was also irrepressible.

"Well, Marjorie, I see you're all decked out for the sacrifice. Are you going to bring the auction block into the drawing room, Charlotte?"

"Really, Cora—" Mrs. Boice-Nevins was beginning, but Mrs. Forester only chuckled.

"We have with us tonight," she went on oratorically, "the most eligible man in the East, matrimonially the best catch of the season, any season; a powerful figure in the financial world; a self-made man; a ruthless fighter, a compelling influence; a man about whom efficiency magazines write endless articles pointing an example to the young aspirant—and a damned attractive human being!" she finished with a grimace.

"Coral!"

"Too bad, Julia," her cool glance swept the girl with smiling malice, "that you didn't wait for Hollister to appear before palling Norris."

Her eyes went to Leola, posing consciously in a low faulted.

"How about you, Leila? Do Ivan's warblings atone for his lack of millions?"

"Sah!" admonished Julie. "The men are coming."

A moment later, Boice-Nevins, followed by Hollister and Marjorie's two brothers-in-law came into the room.

Norris Barclay was the typical young brother, sleek, sophisticated, immaculately groomed. He affected monogrammed cigarettes and gave the impression of being always alert for the sound of an invisible tickler, while his restless eyes wandered about appraisingly.

There was no mistaking the profession of Leila's husband. His dark romanticism, untidy shock of hair, long, pale, sensitive hands, burning eyes, were outward and visible signs of the artistic genius. He had adopted a curious individuality in dress, and he posed; but he was rather likable at that, and had a sense of humor, for all his musical temperament. Leila had been affected by him considerably. She wore classic gowns suggestive of the Italian renaissance, and draped herself in chairs with her chin resting pensively on one slim white hand, adorned with

THE WEEKLY SERIAL ON Love, Marriage AND THE Modern Woman

Next Week—ARTHUR TRAIN on "When Is a Marriage Not a Marriage?"

Grave Lack of Fatherhood

The Modern Wife Is a Widow Half of the Time

In Everyday Family Life

Since modern family life has been the particular theme of Dorothy Canfield in the series of novels from her pen, her views upon this subject, and especially upon what she believes to be the deplorable absence of the father-influence within the family circle, are entitled to the most thoughtful attention. For Dorothy Canfield, herself a wife and mother, has, in her writing, specialized upon the family in much the same spirit as that in which a scholar or scientist devotes himself to a given field; and of all the contributions to this discussion upon the problems of modern society, this which deals with the relative fatherlessness of the present age is among the most interesting and important.

By DOROTHY CANFIELD.

WHAT is marriage, anyhow? In the tumult and the shouting about it, the plain basic facts seem occasionally to be forgotten. Marriage is neither a man-made tyranny clamped down by superstition on an unwilling race, nor a sacred institution, directly inspired by heaven, which in the present year, in its present form, has achieved perfection. It is an attempt on the part of humanity to arrange as best it can, a relationship which it can't get along without.

It is a relationship so natural that most people throughout the ages have enjoyed it, in almost any form, better than its absence. It is the attempt to arrange a life-in-common for a man and a woman which shall suit their needs (this is almost wholly their private affair), but which shall also be good for their children (and this, becoming also the affair of society, introduces a prodigious complication).

Marriage is the name of a problem which individuals and society must solve, and probably must go on solving, repeatedly, from one generation to another, as the conditions of human life change.

Now, we all know that good work can be done on a problem only by quiet, careful disinterested consideration of the different operations to be performed. But whoever tries such a method of thinking about marriage? Who could, if he wishes to? He is set upon by two foaming packs of fanatics; one, the conservatives, yelling, "Down with sacrificial arithmetic! The problem is too holy to be approached by the multiplication table!" The others, the radicals, are whooping. "There is no problem! It is all an invention of priests and Methodists! Down with the problem! It does not exist! It never has existed! It will never exist!"

How Would a New Deal Result?

As a matter of fact, talk and criticism of marriage is a hopeful sign. Nothing is worse for any person, art, or institution, than the mould and mildew and dry-rot which result from unquestioning, uncritical acceptance. And yet, many people are shocked and grieved to have even a detail of the present organization of marriage under question, and they darken counsel by their shouts of alarm and protest. They might spare themselves their alarm. The institution of marriage is too considerable to suffer from discussion.

What would happen if all legal and religious support should be withdrawn from the institution of marriage? Well, you can't work out a question like that by an algebraic formula, but having spent a good many years observing as a novelist how human beings actually do behave under different conditions, my guess is that, after the novelty were off, the great bulk of humanity would go on very much as it does now, with about as many fathers and mothers and children living together as now, with about as many false starts, and infidelities, as at present.

Though the bellies of today as translated into American styles is straight and slim as a wand, yet it has its mitigations. These come in clover pleatings at the sides, or in a swirl of ruffles.

Leather, very soft and of fine texture, is now hand painted with interesting designs in Paris. Subsequently it is used for wrist bags, trinkets, and hats.

The Hindu turban is shown in Paris again, though to be sure, it was not entirely vanished. Today it is fairly low of crown and fits the authentic Hindu lines are somewhat camouflaged by a drooping swirl of feathers on one side of the narrow brim.

The Modern Obsession.

What, then, makes so many marriages fail, or only half succeed, if the institution is so deeply founded on a fundamental need of human

It's generally nothing inherent in the institution or relationship itself, but merely the common human failings of the individuals who go into partnership. For instance, marriage is poisoned and debased far more than we realize by the all-persuasive modern obsession with money and material possessions. It is a relationship which, more than any other, should be profoundly personal and human, the success of which should be estimated wholly by the quality of the human beings who have their roots in it.

The whole matter of material prosperity should be as foreign to it as in the relationship of a mother to her baby. She is a good and beautiful mother if her baby thrives and grows, and she is a bad and unsuccessful mother if he doesn't, and the question of how he is dressed, or how she is dressed, or what kind of street they live on, has nothing to do with it. Tinctured to the marrow as we moderns are with materialism, it is difficult for our poor twentieth century brains even to conceive of anything not measured by possessions, even to conceive of marriage as a realm in which, for once, human beings are not asked, "How much money can you make?" but "What kind of human being are you making out of yourself, and how far can you achieve harmony with the people you live with?"

The ambition of two human beings who unite their lives in marriage should be to produce a beauty and harmony of relationship—the might find this easier to do if our traditional family standards did not insist that these marrieds should produce, first of all, closed cars and open plumbing and all the trimmings appropriate. It takes more toughness of fiber than inexperienced young people possess, to hold out against such terrific pressure from material standards, and to try to order their lives so that, at 40 they may be in possession of each other's respect and affection, rather than in possession of a good job and a handsome house.

Fatal Alternatives.

That is merely another way of stating my belief that marriage, far from being an unnatural bondage forced on us by tradition, represents an attempt at securing what men and women really desire. I don't mean to say that the average marriage as we know it comes within hailing distance of the glorious thing which marriage might be, but to mean that no substitution suggested seems to have the faintest chance of replacing it with men and women.

The Modern Obsession.

What, then, makes so many marriages fail, or only half succeed, if the institution is so deeply founded on a fundamental need of human

MEDITATIONS OF A MARRIED WOMAN

By HELEN ROWLAND

AND STILL WE LOVE THEM—

I T doesn't take a crowbar to wreck a home; sometimes a hairpin will do.

Oh, yes, every man longs for a "sweet, old-fashioned girl," with all the pep of the flapper, all the sophistication of a bachelor girl, and all the mystery of a divorcee—but still "simple-hearted and unspoiled."

A man's early morning grrouch may be dispelled like mist before the sun of a smile from the office stenographer, but just let his wife try any matutinal merry-sunshine tricks on him!

Any girl can judge enough about a man's character and disposition, for all matrimonial purposes, simply by listening, when he's putting up a tent.

Tell a man that a girl is pretty and he won't stop to ask whether she's intelligent or not; but, tell him that she's intelligent, and he'll immediately want you to guarantee that she's pretty before you introduce him.

The average man never gets really acquainted with his wife and family until he has to share a Pullman section, a compartment or a stateroom with them for three days running.

Before marriage it sounds awfully sweet when a man pleads for "the right to protect you"; but after marriage you usually discover that what he meant was the right to censor your make-up, criticize your friends and dictate the length of your skirts.

Just about now, the June bridal couple are awakening with a shock to discover that they are facing a landlord-and-gas-range condition, instead of a rose-brocaded theory.

It's the "last word," the "last time" and the "last straw," that pave the rocky road to Reno.

Copyright, 1924.

nor a widower can bring up children as well as the normal combination of father and mother, and yet the modern wife of a modern absentee office or factory worker is at least half a widow.

If we don't look out the present tendency of wives as well as husbands to be wage-earners will simply result in banishing mother as well as father from the family. But, if the added income is not used to pay for higher-powered cars or handsome clothes, it might be used to ransom an hour or two more from the economic machine for both father and mother.

A Means of Reaching Finer Marriage.

It must be growing evident that I think the trouble with present-day marriage is not that there's too much of it, but that there is a great deal too little; and I think it is absurd to hold it responsible for a lot of human failings which have no essential relation to it. I go a great deal further than that: the few really successful marriages I have been lucky enough to know have convinced me that on its highest terms, marriage offers an unequalled opportunity for the fullest development of human character.

Have I nothing more definite to suggest, as a means of reaching finer and more successful marriages, than that we give material possessions less tragic importance? Well, that suggestion is a tremendously big one, plenty enough to transform marriage. But in a period where people are impatiently trying to find some magic, legal, religious or psychoanalytical button to press which will bring happiness in marriage, served to them with no effort on their part, what would it avail to repeat such an old, threadbare truth as that people cannot succeed in marriage, any more than in any other relationship, without daily, life-long efforts to be gentle, to be firm, to use good sense, to be charitable, to be understanding, to be warm-hearted and, above all, to think of others more than of themselves?

Teaching and "Bringing Up."

But there is an element in marriage on which moderns seem inclined to turn their backs rather negligently, and of which, possibly sincerely, they underestimate the importance. The feeling of direct, personal responsibility for the children is certainly weakened and blurred by the half-baked talk going the rounds about "experts who bring up children better than the untrained men and women who happen to be parents." It is difficult to know whether to burst out into a rage over such talk, or into a roar of laughter, for it is absurd as it is tragic.

In the first place, it is as entirely theoretical as the discussion about the number of angels who could dance on a needlepoint. Perhaps there might, in theory, be experts who could bring children up better than their parents, but where, in all the United States, in this year of grace is there even one? Is there one in your town? There isn't in mine, nor in any town I ever heard of.

Of really good school teachers, there are perhaps enough to supply 10 per cent of the school population. But is anyone mad enough to think that even the best school teacher is "bringing up" the child whom she has with her for six hours out of the 24? The wisest directors of orphan asylums (who, if anyone, have had a chance to study the question, and who, if anyone, might be expected to favor handling children in large groups by trained educators) have long ago arrived at the conviction that nothing yet devised makes as good a background for the growing child as a real home.

Cannot Break Up Home Painlessly.

Not necessarily an ideal home; the best-run institution has as yet failed to compete even with the average home conducted by the average not very enlightened, but kindly man and wife. This is not a theory, expressing what I should like to be true. The experiment has been tried, many times, by sending little orphans away from the materially excellent, scientifically administered asylums, into whatever plain average home would take them. The results have been as conclusively in favor of the home that placing children with foster parents is now the recognized policy of the most advanced asylum directors in the country.

This puts the responsibility squarely where it belongs, on the

Worry, Dragon Where Mouse in

Illustration by J. C. Leyendecker

WORRY—the dragon below a fretful sensible person—wants to be rid of the woe that follows him. Worry, in this case, is a dragon beside a fieldmouse, who comes forth, as the ancient ones did, to harass the countryside. If some prefect could ride out of the veil of tomorrow to usher for the world, we would be in a better position to live in perfect peace, without shadow, this smoky, the dragon of Worry.
